Morgenthau Gets British Parley Bid On Debts, Trade

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 4 (INS)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has been invited to London to discuss monetary matters, including war debts and possible credits for Great Britain for raw materials in the event of war, it was learned today.

Through the British embassy in Washington, the British government has suggested that either on his way to Finland and other Scandinavian countries for his vacation, or before his return to the United States, Secretary Morgenthau break his journey for several days and stop off in London.

HENRY MORGENTHAU, JR.

If too much publicity is attached to a trip to England, the British government is prepared to send an emissary anywhere on the continent to contact the secretary.

Both Premier Neville Chamberlain and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon would like to discuss with Morgenthau:

1—The tripartite currency agreement—a review to date and considerations of the future workings of the agreement.

2—Ways and means of further facilitating the carrying out of the rubber-cotton barter agreement.

3—British credits and financing for the purchase of materials, in the event of this being possible, at the outbreak of war.

4—War debts.

The British government has indicated its hope that Secretary Morgenthau will bring with him President Roosevelt's latest views and reactions to the British suggestion of willingness to discuss and arrange resumption of war debt payments.

American Treasury reactions and views on technical arrangements with regard to the resumption of such payments are expected to be outlined to Sir John Simon by Secretary Morgenthau.

The British government has intimated to Washington that it is anxious to know the attitude of the American government as to the form in which debt payments could be resumed, frankly bearing in mind that Great Britain may require considerable purchases in the United States in the event of a European war.

The French government has been informed of this move by the British government. The prime minister has indicated to Sir John Simon his willingness to break his holiday to meet Morgenthau either before or after his trip to Finland.

In the meantime exchanges of views on the question of war debts are going on between London and Paris, and British treasury experts are preparing materials for possible discussions with Secretary Morgenthau.

BIG BRITISH FLEET MAY GO TO CHINA

LONDON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Parliament adjourned today for a two-month vacation after hearing Prime Minister Chamberlain warn Japan that Great Britain might find it necessary "in certain circumstances" to send a fleet to the Far East.

The prime minister, in one of the bluntest declarations he has made on British-Japanese difficulties, said he hoped no one would think "it absolutely out of the question for such circumstances to arise."

"I do not say that as a threat," he added, "but only as a warning."

Chamberlain's speech was made against the background of the news from Italy that Japan's closer adherence to the Rome-Berlin axis was under discussion by the Japanese ambassadors to the axis powers.

Parliament will reassemble Oct. 3 unless an emergency should cut short the vacation.

Chamberlain indicated Britain earlier might have taken such action as he now said might be necessary if it had not been for the critical situation in Europe which held the fleet at home.

GRAVER PROBLEMS

"Let us not forget that we have graver and nearer problems to consider in the course of the next few months," he declared, "and we must conserve our forces to meet any emergency that may arise."

BANDIT GUN FOUND IN WALTHAM DUEL

Painted black so no light would reflect from it—weapon of a night-time prowler and potential killer—the gun used in the shooting of a Waltham policeman and a gas company employe was found today less than an eighth of a mile from the scene of last night's battle.

It is a .32-caliber revolver, and it was found in a back-yard on Calvary street. It had been fired four times, and a bullet, found under the cowl of the squad car in which the policeman was riding was found to fit it exactly.

The black paint had chipped from it in places, but the black wooden handle was expected to furnish valuable fingerprints.

And even as it was taken, carefully protected, to the crime laboratory at Boston police headquarters, squads of police and state troopers continued their search of a dozen towns near Waltham, including Lincoln, where three men were reported seen on the tracks of the Boston & Maine.

BANDITS FLEE NET

The men were gone when police arrived.

Simultaneously, word was flashed from the Lowell police that the gunmen's descriptions closely match those of the "Merrimack valley gang," a trio of bandits who have terrorized small towns along the river, staged the $1700 Georgetown bank robbery and holdups in Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell and Salem, N. H.

Victims of the gang's bullets, wounded during the battle which broke out after the gunmen's car catapulted off a loading platform wall and crashed on railroad tracks below, were:

John J. Donnelly, 36, of Jackson street, Newton, Boston Consolidated Gas Company yard foreman, wounded in shoulder.

After the gun fight, the three bandits dashed through a marsh to a wooded section off Gore street, Waltham, then were believed to have fled through the grounds of the historic Gore estate.

The railroad line in Lincoln where they were seen by a crossing tender is the same track on which the Waltham crash and shooting took place. When sighted, the three men were at a point about four miles from where the gunmen vanished.

GIVE DESCRIPTION

Less than half an hour after the battle, police had traced ownership of the auto used by the bandits. Lieutenant Detective Edward J. Sherlock of the state police immediately sent a teletype broadcast to all Massachusetts stations, asking that two men be held for questioning:

Stephen DeDecko, 25, 5 feet 10 inches tall, black hair, stocky build, full face, with scar on

Eileen Found, Gets 'Dream Trip' to Coast

Eileen has been found! . . .

The Boston orphan who has been invited to Hollywood as the guest of 14-year-old Linda Ware, screendom's newest child star, is Eileen Parker, originally of Charlestown.

She's thirteen, brunette and as pretty as a picture. She likes to sing . . . and like all little girls, she likes to dream of castles, and princes, and good fairies who make little girls' dreams come true.

She is a ward of the Child Welfare division of the City Department of Institutions. She has spent most of her years going from one boarding house to another—now Randolph, now West Roxbury and then, Randolph again.

Right now she is assigned to a girls' school on the Fenway. She has only been there a short time, less than a month, and she is most happy, although a part of her duties include dusting, taking care of some of the dwelling rooms and the school's parlors.

But everyone is so kind—she is so sweet that it would be difficult not to be kind to her—that she believes she has never been happier.

As for Linda Ware's invitation—Well, it's almost too much to believe all at one time!

So, dimpling prettily, and over a big, fresh peach ice cream soda, she told all she remembers of her life so far.

It all goes back to when she was four. Then her mother died, and her family, a big one, started to break up. The children—there were eight boys then and two girls—were placed in homes.

Then followed some years in a hospital—she was not well as a very little girl—and then boarding homes.

It is only recently that under the aegis of her brother, Joe, who is 16, that the children have begun to get track of one another. Eileen knows now that she has six living brothers—Thomas, Billy, Joseph,

3 HURT IN CRASH, OFFICER DYING

A Natick policeman and two women autoists were injured today when a tandem trailer truck crashed into the women's car as the officer was about to book the driver for an alleged traffic law violation.

The accident occurred on Worcester turnpike, Natick.

Most seriously injured was Patrolman John L. Flynn, 40. At Leonard Morse hospital, Natick, he was reported near death with a badly crushed chest and possible puncture of the lung.

The women victims, Mrs. Evelyn W. Turinton, 25, at the wheel, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie C. Dunlap, 52, both of Alexander street, Worcester, were treated at Union hospital, Framingham, for cuts and bruises. Doctors said Mrs. Turinton also suffered a back injury.

The truck driver, Wilson C. Wilcox, 35, of Laurel, Del., escaped injury. He was held for questioning.

JURY LAYS 3 DEATHS 'TO HITLER'

Czech Refugee Mother, Two Sons Killed in Plunge

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—"Persecution" by the new German government of Czechoslovakia was blamed by a coroner's jury today for the plunge of a 43-year-old refugee mother and her two sons to death from the 13th floor of the Congress Hotel.

The jury which heard the tragic testimony of the once wealthy husband and father, Karel Langer, 50, decided his wife, Adolfa, 43, "committed suicide while temporarily insane due to worry over being forced to leave her home in Czechoslovakia due to persecution."

Jan Misha, four and a half, and Karel Tommy, six, the sons, were victims of "murder committed while (the mother was) temporarily insane," the verdict read.

Mrs. Langer hurled the children and herself from a window of her hotel room to the sidewalk of busy Michigan boulevard last night.

Her distraught husband testified at the inquest today his wife constantly talked of taking her life "and taking the babies with her." She had been despondent since fleeing to the United States four weeks ago, he said, after being "more or less compelled to leave their native land to find opportunities for the children."

Langer owned the Hynek Maypoles Textile Company in Prague and was worth more than $1,500,000.

Mrs. Langer, a woman of unusual intelligence, was deeply involved in refugee relief, aiding countless Jews as they fled over the borders from Germany. Then, all in a day, it came crashingly to an end.

Nazis marched over the border and took control. Langer was deprived of his company, his city home, his country estate. All of his belongings were swept away, but out of the debacle he managed to salvage around $8000.

Early in July they went to France and obtaining a six months' visa, continued to the United States.

A few days ago they came to Chicago from New York and registered at a small Czech hotel on the West Side.

"My wife began brooding," Langer told police through an interpreter, who, in turn, admitted that he used the alias of "Eric Fischer," for he, too, is a refugee.

"She had an intuition that we would be unable to stay here, and would have to take our children back to Prague.

"She said she would rather be dead—not that she was missing her former comforts, but because she was afraid to let her children live under Nazi rule.

"She said if she got enough courage to die, she would take the children along."

Yesterday she asked her husband for $20. She was going, she said, to take the children to the Lincoln Park zoo.

Shortly before 8 o'clock she appeared at the hotel with the little ones dressed in sun suits. She had only a small bag and registered as "Mrs. Della Frank, New York City."

On the way up to their room she had asked for "a large, airy room"—Donald Franklin, the elevator operator, commented on the children's apparent happiness. Mrs. Langer, who spoke a little English, made answer:

"They should be happy," she said, "they are going to meet their daddy tomorrow."

They returned to the lobby later and went back to the room about 10 o'clock. At 11 they plunged through the window.

A taxicab driver screamed in horror. South Park Policeman William Schwabe, stationed 300 feet away, raced up. The bodies had narrowly missed some late passers-by in the boulevard.

Mrs. Langer was dead. The children seemed to breathe. Hope was a wild dash to St. Luke's hospital, but it was for late.

When police got to Mrs. Langer's where Langer was [illegible] walking up and down in a dressing gown, they feared at first [illegible] because they were informed [illegible] heart ailment.

Told at last, it seemed as if [illegible] would collapse as completely as tragic was his grief.

"Let me go," he wailed in [illegible] native Czech, "Let me follow them. It does no good to [illegible] me. I will kill myself [illegible] now!"

He was taken to police [illegible] quarters, and there kept under surveillance after his story had been told.

"The suffering of the Jews in Germany and Austria broke down my wife's health and spirit," he said. "She was very active in helping all refugees. We never dreamed that we, ourselves, would soon become refugees and be forced to wander from one place to another looking for a place to rest."

He had made application to [illegible] to Canada, and soon after he [illegible] and children had gone out [illegible] mission came. He was overjoyed and waited eagerly to tell them of their change in fortune.

But it meant nothing. Death had claimed them.

SENATE GROUP FOR 119 MILLION FARM FUND

'Session of Revolt' Speeding to Close

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—A $119,000,000 farm fund was restored to the session's last appropriation bill by a Senate sub-committee today in a renewed drive to adjourn Congress tomorrow night.

The action came almost simultaneously with endorsement by President Roosevelt of Secretary Wallace's insistence that the money, for the Commodity Credit Corporation, be restored to the third deficiency bill, from which it was slashed by the House.

Immediately the full appropriations committee was called to confirm the subcommittee's action so the bill could be rushed to the Senate floor for debate.

MANY CHANGES URGED

Senator Adams (D.) of Colorado, acting appropriations chairman, declined to "go into detail" regarding changes made in the bill.

Several other alterations had been sought by federal officials, among them an increase from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in the A. F. approved by the House for building up the field enforcement staff of the wage-hour administration.

Restoration of the commodity credit item alone raised the funds in the bill to more than $173,000,000, the House total having been only $54,000,000, or about $162,000,000 less than recommended by the White House budget bureau.

At his press conference the President said the Secretary of Agriculture was right in emphasizing the need for $119,000,000 for the Federal Loan Agency.

FARM PROGRAM PERILED

Wallace urged that the Senate write the sum into the third deficiency bill from which it was eliminated by the House. The money, Wallace said, was essential to continuance of the Farm Loan program, and he declared that prices of major farm crops would fall and the entire farm program be threatened if it was not granted.

The controversy over the farm fund was the one remaining threat to adjournment Saturday. Senate Majority Leader Barkley said, however, there was no possibility that if controversy developed between the Senate and House over final form of the deficiency bill Congress might remain in session through Monday.

Barkley said he planned a night session tonight to speed work on the deficiency measure.

The Senate worked today with nearly one-fourth of its membership absent. Attaches said 22 senators had left Washington, with more scheduled to go during the day.

Since 17 of the absent senators were Democrats, administration leaders sought to avoid consideration of controversial measures.

The loan fund was cut out Wednesday by an economy-minded House, which yesterday killed the last vestige of the administration lending program by voting, 191 to 170, not to consider the Senate's $800,000,000 slum clearance and housing bill.

F. D. R. PLEA FAILS

The latter action was taken in the face of a plea by Rep. Sabath (D), of Illinois, a fan of the House, that "the President is vitally interested in passage of this bill."

The House leaders eliminated another controversial issue with an announcement by Rep. Rayburn (D) of Texas, that amendments to the wage-hour law would not be considered in this session.

Vegetable Life, Seen on Mars, Causes Stir

LONDON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Studies of Mars during its recent approach to the earth "make it difficult to continue to believe life on earth is a result of some special act of creation," says Dr. H. Spencer Jones of the Royal Observatory.

Mars on July 27 was nearest to earth in 35 years.

Of questions of enchained logic [illegible] Dr. Jones observed,

"The question of whether there is any animal life on Mars is of relatively minor importance compared with the now reasonably certain evidence there is vegetation.

"The bridge between animal and plant life would seem to be much narrower than the bridge between no life and plant life."

Best studies of Mars were made by Dr. E. C. Slipher of Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz., Slipher and his aides saw a snowstorm on the planet and observed a dark area which seemed covered with vegetation.

Deal Defends Argentine Beef

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Administration spokesmen in Congress took the defensive today on the issue raised by President Roosevelt's endorsement of Argentine canned beef as being better than its American product.

Senator Scott W. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, described the recent action of Congress in forbidding purchase of this foreign meat for the army and navy as "a new source of irritation" to the "good neighbor policy."

While Senator Lucas injected this defense of an advertisement of Argentine beef by the President, which is being made widespread use of in South America, Representative August H. Andresen, Minnesota, contemplated introducing a resolution for a congressional investigation of the celebrated "tinned beef" episode, in its relation to the large increases now being noted in importations of foreign agricultural products.

Hatch Bill Hits Party Leaders in Bay State

The new Hatch law, prohibiting activity by federal officials and employes in politics or political organizations, will force several prominent federal officeholders and a score of postmasters out of the Democratic organization in Massachusetts.

Best known is Joseph McGrath, collector of the port and chairman of the Democratic state committee and Democratic national committeeman for Massachusetts.

Miss Mary Ward, immigration commissioner, is a member of the state committee. She is away on an automobile trip.

McGrath, who has been trying vainly to resign both political positions for months, has been seriously ill and is now away on a trip with Mrs. McGrath until after Labor Day.

Late last year the committee refused to accept McGrath's resignation.

The score or more of Democratic postmasters affected are members either of the state, city or town committees.

The Hatch Bill was viewed gloomily at Democratic state committee headquarters, where it was said its full effect would be felt in the campaign of next year when it would prevent federal officials or employes from organization work.

TIMILTY TRIES NEW POLICY

Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty today inaugurated a new promotion system in the police department by placing two lieutenants in charge of the busy South End division.

At the same time, the commissioner transferred Capt. Bernard J. Graham from that division to the detective bureau at police headquarters.

The commissioner stated in placing Lieutenants Max B. F. Thormer and Charles W. Miller in charge of the South End that he intended to follow the same policy in naming future captains.

Thormer was placed in charge of the division, with Miller to run the night shift.

"I am giving these lieutenants an opportunity to show they have the executive ability to make good captains," Timilty said.

"I have given them orders to rid the division of every nuisance—to clean up, if they want to make good."

One vacancy for captain exists now and the commissioner disclosed that he intends to ask Mayor Tobin to sign retirement papers of three present captains.

He named the three as John McGrath, John F. Fitzpatrick and James H. Eagan.

McGrath commands Division 14, Brighton; Fitzpatrick it attached to the Bureau of Rackets at Headquarters, and Eagan is attached to the Detective Bureau. All are over the retirement age of 65.

EDITH SNYDER
Gimp's Daughter Dies

COL. GIMP'S DAUGHTER EDITH DIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—Edith Snyder, daughter of Moe ("Colonel Gimp") Snyder, is dead.

She is the girl who wrested a gun out of his hand and fired wildly when he attempted to shoot Ruth Etting, her stepmother and Snyder's ex-wife.

Moe Snyder

Miss Snyder, 22, who had come here from California, where the attack took place last October, died in St. Luke's hospital. She had been suffering for months from a heart affliction.

She had come here for treatment.

News of her death was sent immediately to San Quentin prison, California, where her father is serving a sentence of "not more than 20 years" for the attack.

And, at the same time, efforts were under way to reach Miss Eting, honeymooning in Europe with her second husband, Myrl Alderman, whom Snyder wounded.

Plans for the funeral were held up pending word from Miss Etting whose secretary and loyal supporter the dead girl was, even against her own father.

BELIEVED IDEAL MATCH

"The Colonel," as he was most generally known, was a small-time Chicago hoodlum and bootlegger when he met the statuesque Miss Etting, then a chorus-girl in the show at the Bismarck Gardens. He wooed her, won her, and from then on, devoted himself to her career.

He saw her win the title of "America's sweetheart of the air," and journeyed with her to New York, where she starred in the Ziegfeld Follies, and became radio's highest paid entertainer.

When finally they separated, Edith chose to go with her stepmother, serving as her secretary.

"There's no other man," the Gimp told his friends. "I'm just too rough and coarse for her. Ruthie is right. I don't belong. "But, if there was another man I'd kill him."

There was. It was her accompanist, Myrl Alderman, handsome, young, gay.

Snyder telephone her from New York, threatening to fly out, kill her, kill himself. She notified police.

Then, one night last October, Alderman walked in to her Beverly Hills home, the Gimp behind him, a pistol pressed in his ribs.

STARTED SHOOTING

"I'm going to kill you all," he said.

Edith refused to sit down, and, suddenly, the Gimp was shooting. Alderman fell, a bullet in the flesh of his abdomen.

Miss Etting ran into a bedrooom and got a 32-caliber revolver of her own. They struggled for it.

Edith snatched the gun away, and as her father turned to run, fired once at him.

Later she went before the grand jury, and, at his trial, testified against him. He was convicted.

Beating a $150,000 alienation of affections suit, brought by Alderman's ex-wife, Miss Etting and Alderman were married.

War Vets Ask Law Ban 'Ism' Propaganda

With warmly contested election for national officers scheduled as hte last official actions, the Disabled American Veterans today voted a convention resolution urging national legislation to prohibit publication of any "ism" literature—any articles containing attacks onthe American form of government or attempts to stir up class hatred.

The resolution was offered by the child welfare committee, one of seven reporting to the convention during the day's proceedings.

Other resolutions favored legislation for the benefit of disabled veterans whose employment status has been affected by their war service.

One, offered by the service committee, whose chairman, H. Earl Piney of Los Angeles, is also national rehabilitation officer of the D. A. V., asked Congress for a law providing that any veteran whose honest efforts to obtain work had failed because of physical troubles connected with war service be given a total disability rating.

Another resolve by the same committee would fill employment vacancies in veterans' hospitals with disabled veterans.

A resolution which brought forth a lively debate on the floor would allow veterans to waive compensation under the civil service act and retain civil service jobs while continuing to receive disability allowances. The resolution was adopted after 15 minutes of argument.

Franco Gives Fascists All Powers; Linked With Axis

BURGOS, Spain, Aug. 4 (INS)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today granted wide powers and prerogatives of the pro-Fascist Phalangist party of Spain, signifying his apparent determination to line up solidly with the Rome-Berlin axis as a totalitarian state.

In a sweeping decree revising the party's constitution, Franco granted virtually all demands made by his brother-in-law and minister of the interior, Ramon Serrano Suner, leader of Phalangists.

Issuance of the decree marked a major victory for the pro-Fascist element in Spain over the conservative, monarchist, Carlistas.

The decree gives the Phalangist party complete control ove, the Spanish government's foreign policies, education, press, propaganda, justice, communications, transport, police and secret service.

In addition, the Fascists are placed in charge of the women's movement, social relief work, war veterans' organizations and youth and labor institutions.

The new labor set-up will be based upon national syndicalism, with a hierarchy modeled upon the army.

Hague Critic Paper Padlocked by U. S.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 4 (INS)—A big brass government padlock today hung from the door of the Greenville Home News, a Jersey City neighborhood weekly newspaper charged with failing to pay its social security taxes.

Henry F. Auger, editor and half-owner of the paper, claimed he had been warned by Thomas J. Armstrong, assistant corporation counsel of Jersey City and holder of the other 50 per cent of the stock, that suspension of publication would follow if he persisted in publishing stories criticizing Mayor Frank Hague.

He printed the stories July 27. On Wednesday, he said, agents of the collector of internal revenue at Newark appeared and demanded the taxes for all of 1937 and first nine months of 1938, which Auger admitted were past due. He said he could have raised the money, but decided not to pay in order to have a showdown with Armstrong.

Yesterday the newspaper was padlocked.

(Note: Padlocking of a newspaper for deficiency in Social Security tax payments is rare but the action has been more frequently invoked against other businesses.)

Auger last night took his staff and moved to the plant of the Hasbrouck Heights Observer and published the first issue of a new newspaper called the Home News of Jersey City. The entire issue was devoted to an explanation of the padlocking.

John E. Manning, collector of Internal Revenue for New Jersey, said the padlocking was a purely routine procedure.

WILL OUST HOUSING 'SITTERS'

Faced with a "sit down" strike by families he must oust, Chairman John A. Breen of the Boston Housing Authority, today served notice on 60 Charlestown families in the housing project area that they and their belongings will be removed by force early next week.

Included among the 60, he stated, are at least 20 "die-hards," owners of their own homes, who have flatly asserted they have no intention of moving.

These and the others will, he said, be ousted by a field force of deputy sheriffs if they persist in their last stand.

Notices of eviction, served May 20, he said, called for evacuation by June 20.

FIGHT OVER SOLON PAY RAISE BILL

A heated attempt to force immediate consideration of the salary issue marked today's legislative session, as weary lawmakers fretted and fumed to go home.

The salary bill, which would boost salaries for this biennial session $1500 over the $2000 recommended by Governor Saltonstall and pay legislators $4000 a session, was passed by the House six weeks ago, and since then has been under consideration by the Senate ways and means committee.

LANGONE LEADS FIGHT

At the same time, the House slashed an appropriation for a special legislative commission to study 300 highway bills rejected by the general court this year. The commission's fund was cut from $5000 to $2500.

The fight to bring up the salary bill was led by Senator Joseph A. Langone, Jr., of Boston.

"We ought to stay here all day and vote for our pay," Langone shouted from the floor.

"This is our day. We're entitled to the money."

Despite his impassioned appeal, however, the vote against consideration was 28 to 8.

With the controversial major tax measures of the Governor's program still in the offing, Senators voiced their weariness as they protested the Langone "showdown."

HITS G. O. P. PLOT

"I wasn't going to vote for any pay increase this year," said Senator Donald W. Nicholson, Warehan Republican, "but if they persist in keeping us here, I'll vote for $4000."

Senator Thomas M. Burke of Boston backed Langone by charging a "Republican conspiracy" to keep the bill pigeonholed.

Meanwhile, Chairman Arthur W. Hollis of the Ways and Means Committee threw oil on the troubled waters when he declared his committee will report the bill "in the near future."

Night sessions are in order as House and Senate wrangle over race race taxes, income taxes, a cigarette levy, and increased liquor taxes.

Of the four, only the increased liquor taxes appeared likely to get through.

Train Jams Traffic In Sullivan Square

Three Charlestown police cruisers and a squad car carried details of officers to Sullivan square to unsnarl a traffic jam during the morning rush hour today.

A freight train crossing Rutherford avenue and Main street was said to have started the blockade. Triple lines of cars extended along Alford street nearly a mile and similar tie-ups occurred in other arteries.

Judge Fights Ruling He Wed Secretary

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4 (AP)—Former Supreme Court Justice Fred P. Branson, whose own decision in a similar case rose to plague him, argued today for a new trial in the district court which held he was legally married to Madeline Braniff Branson.

The 47-year-old stenographer won a verdict validating her 1930 New York marriage to the ex-jurist and giving her $250 a month support money.

Branson, 59, had contended during the sensational four-day trial that the ceremony was not binding because it was performed before six months had elapsed from the time his first wife obtained her divorce.

OWN OPINION

As a last minute surprise, Madeline's attorney introduced Branson's own opinion in a similar case in 1925.

Then, as vice-chief justice, Branson held that since there was cohabitation after the six months expired and both parties established the relation of husband and wife, the parties legally were married.

Closing arguments were both spicy and bitter.

"This defendant," said Branson, "is asking the courts of this state whether a younger, a more lascivious woman can cross the threshold of a home because she is in his office and through the weakness of the defendant—no matter how culpable he may be—to break up a home.

'WEAPON OF SEX'

"She used the weapon of sex to drive a faithful, now gray-haired woman (his first wife) into the divorce court—the weapon that has been used by woman ever since Adam fell in the Garden of Eden."

Judge John B. Wilson declared he could not find that Madeline had pressed Branson to divorce his first wife. Arguments for a new trial start today.

Man's Right In Own Home: Place to Sleep

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—A husband is entitled to use his bedroom, if he has one, says Judge Joseph Sabath.

The judgment was pronounced after John Kubu, 61, complained he had three bedrooms in his home, but had to sleep on a cot in the kitchen.

He testified his wife occupied one bedroom and her two daughters by a previous marriage the others.

Judge Sabath, deferring a decision on Kubu's petition for a divorce, declared:

"Meanwhile, one of the bedrooms must be placed at the disposal of Mr. Kubu and he shall be unmolested in his use of it."

Hunt Suspect as Girl Winner Loses Fair Trip

A pretty 20-year-old Chelsea girl's complaint that she held a winning lottery ticket supposedly entitling her to a free trip to the New York World's Fair, without receiving the means of getting there, set police throughout the east today on a search for William H. Rideout, 27, of Brighton, alleged operator of the lottery.

Rideout was named in the warrant by Miss Vera Radeck of Orange st., who appeared in Brighton court with Special Officers Michael Cullinane and George Doherty. Armed with the warrant, the officers went to Rideout's home in Bennet st., only to learn from his wife that he had left home Monday for an unknown destination.

According to police, 3000 tickets were sold at 25 cents apiece under sponsorship of the Greater Boston Aero Club, of which he is founder and operator.

Duce, Hitler Press Japan to Join Axis Arms Pact

ROME, Aug. 4 (AP)—Japanese ambassadors to Rome and Berlin, in a conference at Lake Como today, laid groundwork for extensive military, political and economic discussions to be opened shortly by Japan with Italy and Germany.

The official Italian news agency, Stefani, said the Japanese diplomats—Toshio Shiratori from Rome and Lieut.-Gen. Hiroshi Oshima from Berlin—were talking of Japanese adherence to the Italian-German military alliance which pledges each to come to the other's aid in wartime.

The possibility of increased Japanese collaboration with the axis partners is to be explored with Fascist and Nazi leaders

BRITISH FLEET TO HALT JAP?

bate in Commons, Chamberlain said:

"Sometimes I hear members say, 'why don't you do the same as United States does.' It is hardly necessary for me to point to the fundamental difference between this country and the United States with its isolation from Europe.

MAY SEND FLEET

"Even in the presence of those insults and injuries which have been inflicted upon British people in China by the Japanese we must remember there are limits to what we can do to help our people there.

"At the moment we have not got in the Far East a fleet superior to that of the Japanese. We have such a fleet here. In certain circumstances we might find it necessary to send a fleet out there."

Britain normally maintains in Far Eastern waters only her China squadron, which includes no capital ships and would be no match for the Japanese navy, the world's third strongest.

"At the same time," Chamberlain said, "we would much rather settle our differences with the Japanese by discussion and negotiation, provided we can do so without sacrificing what we conceive to be fundamental considerations and principles, than to do it by threats of force."

He said the use of force would imperil British subjects in Japanese-controlled areas of China.

"Even if we determined tomorrow that we were going to the last extremity we could not perhaps protect those people—we certainly could not protect many of them," he continued.

"I do feel we have a duty to them that we ought to bear in mind and that we ought not, if we can avoid it, put them in greater peril than that in which they now stand."

40,000 BRITONS THERE

(About 20,000 British subjects are resident in China, nearly all in Japanese-occupied territory. In addition about 20,000 Britons live in the British Crown Colony of Hongkong, off the South China coast.)

Chamberlain said Britain had made it perfectly clear in Tokyo negotiations that she was not prepared to settle with Japan alone questions of currency and Chinese silver in the British and French concessions in Tientsin because these questions concerned other powers.

On the question of handing over four alleged Chinese terrorists being held in the British concession in Tientsin, Chamberlain said Japanese had submitted evidence of the men's guilt and that this was now under consideration.

Nazis Can Eat! Food Crops Far Above Average

BERLIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—Germany's rye, wheat and potato crop are "far above average" this year, the Statistical Bureau announced today.

The bureau said that rye and wheat stores would be raised by 2,500,000 to 4,500,000 tons, "assuring provisioning of Germany under all imaginable circumstances."

The potato crop was estimated at 50,000,000 tons. Other figures were not given.

Tinkham Demands Curb to War Peril

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Alarmed by evidence of a secret understanding between Great Britain and the United States in Asia, and declaring his apprehension that American policy would lead to war, Representative George Holden Tinkham (R.) of Massachusetts has introduced in the House a resolution declaring it to be the sense of Congress the United States maintain a policy of strict neutrality.

The resolution was directed specifically to the present acute situation in China, and called upon the United States to "disassociate itself from Great Britain" in the war between China and Japan.

G. H. Tinkham

After issuing a formal statement in explanation of his resolution, which he intends to be pending when Congress reassembles in January, or in possible extraordinary session at an earlier date, Mr. Tinkham said:

"I have considerable documentary evidence to submit at the proper time in support of the resolution.

RAPS WAR URGE

"With the British Parliament and the American Congress both going into recess at this time, leaving the conduct of affairs wholly in executive hands, I feel some expression by the Congress of the character indicated should be made."

In his formal statement he said

"It would appear from policies pursued by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull that their secret alliance with Great Britain with respect to Europe extends to Asia as well. If such an alliance does exist, there can be only one result for the United States—war.

"President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, not finding a convenient war in Europe to enter, have found a convenient war to enter in Asia, and they are taking the first steps to enter it.

SUPPORTING BRITAIN

"It would appear from current dispatches that the United States is supporting Great Britain in its immediate differences with Japan. These differences involve questions of British interests in Chinese nationalist currency and Chinese silver in British banks in Tientsin.

"The United States should certainly maintain a policy of genuine neutrality and should immediately dissassociate itself from Great Britain, whose political and economic interests in China so greatly exceed those of the United States.

"The United States cannot underwrite the boundaries, the political commitments and the interests of Great Britain in Europe and Asia without becoming involved in war, and war would mean the destruction of our republic.

"I am accordingly introducing in the House today a joint resolution which seeks to put Congress on record as opposed to the administration's course in the East and in favor of strict neutrality."

U. S. SEES SEPT. WAR, SAY JAPS

TOKYO, Aug. 4 (AP)—Japan is being forced toward an outright military alliance with Germany and Italy because of United States abrogation of her Japanese trade treaty and British resistance on the North China currency question, a high government official said today.

The official first said "events" were forcing Japan into an axis alliance with the axis powers, and then added that by "events" he means the July 27 notice from Washington that the United States after six months would cancel the 1911 treaty, and Great Britain's stand on the currency question.

"We have been confidentially informed that Washington fears war in Europe in September and the treaty abrogation was done on the spur of the moment in order to clear the way for military assistance to Britain and France while withholding war materials from Japan," it was stated.

SLAYER BURIED IN MEDFORD

With no mourner at the graveside, no flowers and no committal ceremony, the body of Walter St. Sauveur, executed young Somerville slayer, was buried today in Oak Grove cemetery, Medford.

Reported seeking a job so that she could save up money to pay the undertaker, dark-haired, 17-year-old Mary St. Sauveur, the dead man's sister, was not present at the interment.

More ceremony, it was expected, would attend the funeral tomorrow of Wallace Green, who died with St. Sauveur for the holdup slaying of William Phillips, elderly Somerville storekeeper.

Green's family plans to be at the grave when his burial takes place.

HOTEL ESSEX REVUE TOPS IN ENTERTAINMENT

Hamilton Club Opens In Everett

By SAM BERENSON

The summer season entertainment in the Hotel Essex Grill Room is reaching new heights in the presentation of unusual floor shows combining beauty, song, dance and hilarity into a unit of entertainment rarely seen during the so-called "August dog days."

Billy Kent, master of ceremonies, Paul Williams and his string troupe and Duane Marshall's fine music whip up an exhilarating tempo of fun.

• • •

The new Hamilton Club in Everett, recently opened, is the last word in beauty. It should be reported cost $70,000 . . .

One of the gayest of summer pastimes seems to be in those down the Atlantic trips to the Cape . . . and if one judges by the throngs who take advantage of those delightful cruises, never have they been so popular . . . one suspects that he service and grand entertainment are as important as the sea breezes in the success of these voyages . . . Up at the Pier Reed's Jones Boys have made such a decided hit that it is quite probable that the Duke himself may take the lads along when the engagement comes to a close . . . Ellington's rhythm-making there is really superb . . . The Lawrence Hofbrau is enjoying a smash season, what with the Rockingham Park horses so close by . . . a wise spot to feed and have a gay late show.

• • •

Along the mail route these rainless weather has resulted in a bustle of business the likes of which the Hyannis Port scene hasn't seen in years . . . it's a gay and colorful set that throng the Hotel Sweet garrets these August evenings . . . and one of the most compelling segments in that sepia dish served up at the Ritz every night is the swingman Ellington cavorts with his top flight band . . . While across the skyline the Westminster is a featurin' the exotic Vicki Lester in stellar dance specialties from Paris . . . and . . .

One Lesser Stanford [illegible] to be the place to spend the week-end, down at Lynnfield . . .

That spirited carnival South [illegible] ready to open its [illegible] season . . . Sunday policy, which means that the country's best swimmers will be heating it out down here . . . Pemberton Inn's summer session carries on under the guidance of undefeatable Paul Sullivan . . . That Hi Hat barbecued chicken still ranks as one of the town's tastier dishes . . . dancing here to the rhythms of the capable Pete Herman band . . . The Junior Jack Dawes' lads retrieved from capsized looking too fit, vows that camel-riding has done wonders for him . . . Hmm, but how's the camel . . . Steuben's fish specials the talk of the town.

• • •

Nice band boosing, that of Mickey Alpert at the Cocoanut Grove . . . seems better than ever . . . And in another field, a bouquet to Billy Payne for his grand lilting of those heart touching Irish melodies . . . Smiling Bob Shale, Lou Waters planning those terrific plans for the Latin Quarter's fall opening, Tommy Mateo donning his tux at the Old Orchard Beach . . .

FAREWELL CRUISE

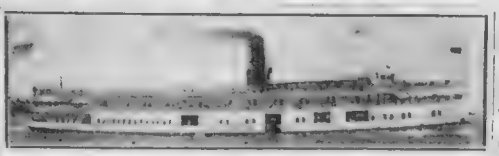
Several hundred of Boston University's 1668 summer session students will attend the summer school farewell party tomorrow [illegible] Steel Pier for an all-day steamer trip to Provincetown.



STEAMER ALLERTON, of the Nantasket-Boston Steamboat Company fleet is one of the fast steamers to and from Boston and Nantasket Beach. She has a capacity of 1540 passengers, and is commanded by Capt. Kenneth A. Smith.

Cape Cod Cruise Set for Saturday

[illegible] will be held Saturday August [illegible] weather permitting, when the steamer Town of Hull will leave Rowes wharf Boston at 10 a. m. for the all day ocean cruise to and thru the Cape Cod Canal and Buzzard's Bay.

Moonlight Sails Wednesday, Friday

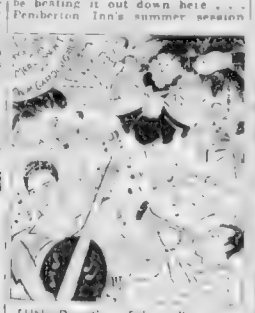
Wednesday and Friday evenings have special significance for those who like dancing and for those who like to stroll the decks of a luxury liner. These are the special nights set aside for the twice-weekly Moonlight Sails on the S. S. Steel Pier.

The S. S. Steel Pier leaves Foster's Wharf at 9:00 p.m. every Wednesday and Friday, sails down the harbor and then up along the North Shore as far as Marblehead, docking at midnight.



FUN: Dorothy Edward's pen and ink impression of the entertainment at the Palm Garden Grille Paragon Park, Nantasket.

'INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY' OPENS AT PARAMOUNT, FENWAY

LINDA DARNELL, 17, Dallas high school girl a few months ago, has the leading feminine role in Eva Maxwell's "Hotel for Women," Cosmopolitan production opening Thursday at the Metropolitan.

Novice's Back in Hollywood As Film's Cinderella Girl

sent home from Hollywood almost two years ago because she was too young, Linda Darnell returned from Dallas, Texas, recently to become the film city's Cinderella girl of the year.

Unknown and unheard of, Linda was chosen for the leading feminine role in the 20th Century Fox Cosmopolitan production of Eva Maxwell's Hotel For Women in which she makes her film debut.

The daughter of a Dallas post office clerk Linda was brought to Hollywood almost two years ago by a talent scout who felt that she was the type to appear for pictures and advised her to go home and get some experience.

Unknown to Linda, studio talent scouts were watching her progress and she was asked to send some new photographs of herself to the studio. After the photos were received, train fare was sent her and a contract was signed as soon as she reached the studio.

THERE IS NO INDICATION that the New Deal Administration intends the slightest recession from its incomprehensible policy of encouraging the sale and use of Argentine and other foreign beef in the United States in preference to American beef.

[illegible] encountered by government acts and policies, this advocacy of a foreign product persists and the favored status of that product in the markets [illegible]

The Administration attitude toward this problem has been demonstrated on two recent and notable occasions.

The first was the occasion of a Contract made by the Navy Department [illegible] PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, for the purchase of Argentine beef to be consumed by the personnel of the Navy.

The second was the revelation by Congressman Mundt of South Dakota of his purchase of Argentine beef in an employes' store MAINTAINED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Thus, to the preposterous act of feeding foreign beef to the Navy is brazenly and contemptuously added the equally preposterous act of feeding the same imported product TO CONGRESS.

These are UNAMERICAN ACTS of an UNAMERICAN ADMINISTRATION.

WHAT ELSE can be said of the acts of an Administration which [illegible] regarding of the most fundamental interests of the American people?

What is more fundamental to the American farmer than that his products find a ready and profitable sale in the markets of this country?

What is more fundamental to American industry than that the products of agriculture which it purchases and processes be sold to [illegible] people?

What is more fundamental to American labor than that its employment opportunities in agriculture and industry be preserved and [illegible]?

Where can American agriculture, industry and labor look for protection if the AMERICAN GOVERNMENT devotes itself to building up foreign [illegible] AT THE EXPENSE OF AMERICAN ENTERPRISE?

The distress of the American people should be the first and the [illegible] concern of the American government.

IT WAS THAT DISTRESS, in fact, which brought the New Deal Administration into power—the distress of the millions of Americans who were unemployed, the distress of millions of farmers who could not find profitable markets for the abundant crops and products of their fields and herds.

But instead of alleviating the unemployment which distressed the people or alleviating the economic paralysis of the industries in which they should be employed, or alleviating the stagnation of domestic markets, the New Deal has expanded and augmented the [illegible]

[illegible] trade treaties, lowering the protective barriers [illegible] of foreign industrial and agricultural products, thus multiplying our idle factories and farms and thus [illegible]

[illegible] monstrous error and crime of purchasing [illegible] for that purpose money extorted from the American people by usurious taxes, and justifying that execrable practice by PUBLICLY DISPARAGING COMPETING AMERICAN PRODUCTS AS INFERIOR.

How can the United States hope to sell its products in the world markets, if our own government disparages those products and [illegible] unfortunately?

[illegible] of their magnificent accomplishments in industry and agriculture, which rival and surpass the whole world, in spite of what the New Deal may think.

[illegible] some day want a NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION of which they can be as rightfully proud.

IN REJECTING the government's contention that the American Medical Association had violated the anti-trust laws, Justice James M. Proctor, of the Federal District Court at Washington, D. C., rendered a sensible decision.

The defense argument that doctors are not engaged in a trade in the meaning of the anti trust laws, but in a learned profession, was upheld.

That is sheer common sense.

It smacks of totalitarianism when efforts are made to stretch existing statutes into new and unintended meanings.

The whole case was in the spirit of the prevailing "government [illegible]

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -1- MY DAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 - Miss Grace Reavy of the New York State Civil Service Commission, and Mrs. Hazel Gardiner, state Democratic committeewoman, lunched with me here.

Mrs. Gardiner is [illegible] a meeting on a nomination [illegible] for the position of [illegible] phases of government [illegible] of civil service which interests me. For I think that we women need to [illegible] fact as [illegible] of our place in [illegible] in taking [illegible]

After lunch Miss Reavy, Mrs. Gardiner, Miss Dow and I [illegible] to the World's Fair. I had an engagement to meet Secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau, and I was early for [illegible] arrived early.

I called Miss Hickok and she and Commander Flanagan met us in the Danish pavilion. I was interested in the [illegible] as well as in their [illegible]

WE WENT [illegible] restaurant to get [illegible] drink for you may have noticed that it was one of the hottest days we have had here this summer.

I don't imagine that iced coffee is particularly Danish. The famous Danish pastry accompanied it. They have a wonderful cold table with hors d'oeuvres of every kind, and we all agreed we would come back some day and sample those dishes.

We then visited "Tomorrow Town" with a special eye to the little houses. I have always thought that if you had all the money in the world to spend it would not be difficult to build a house and include in it all your desires. But to get the maximum out of your money in a little house is really a problem worthy of anyone's mettle.

All the furniture in a little brick house has been made by handicapped people. The little wooden house with its varieties of wood interested me very much. I ended up in what is called a musical kitchen, where the old-fashioned kitchen equipment talks itself right out of the kitchen and you see the whole kitchen transformed into a modern room equipped with all the latest electrical gadgets.

From there it is only a step to the electrified farm. I was fascinated by the farm refrigerator and also interested in the freezing apparatus. I must find out whether a single small farm can afford this equipment or whether it should be the property of a group of farmers to make it really pay.

I saw more of the French exhibit too and think it very interesting and varied. I still have not seen the [illegible] section, but that will be for another day.

KATHARINE CORNELL SHUNS FILM CASH

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—Katharine Cornell has refused the most attractive offer ever made by any film studio—the right to choose her own story, director, cast, as well as a salary higher than Garbo's . . . Tamara Geva, taking her auto-driving test, was asked by the examiner: "How fast do you drive on a play-street?" Miss Geva said "Ten miles an hour—very slowly," and now is lamenting her mistake. No driving is permitted on a play-street . . . Paul Green, the Pulitzer Prize playdright who is working at Roanoke Island, is refusing all offers to return to Hollywood. Green went from his native North Carolina to the film colony to earn $104,000 in one year—enough to pay off the mortgages for every one of his relatives—which he did.

THE ORIGINAL manuscripts of Thomas Wolfe's posthumous novels will be purchased soon, for exhibition probably at the J. P. Morgan Library or at Harvard. The value of these manuscripts is enhanced by the fact that they are written in longhand . . . Wolfe, before he died, told me why he preferred writing 3000 words a day in longhand, instead of using the typewriter: He was descended from pioneers, and was proud that his forebears were men of the soil . . . "But I went to Harvard and taught English at N. Y. U.," he stated, "and the men in our family all worked with their hands—hands which were gnarled and worn from toil. So look" . . . He showed his own hands—the fingers lumped and gnarled, like those of a man of the soil—there, where he held his pencil.

* * *

LARRY HART, who with Dick Rogers is writing the music for the new show, "Yale Bait," lost the manuscript of the show's book, which was written by George Marion. Marion therefore is doing the re-writing now . . . Jack Waldron is boasting that he has so many gold teeth that he sleeps with his head in a safe . . . Percy Marmont, star of the silent screen and of "If Winter Comes," will join the ranks of the comebacktriers . . . Ted Husing dropped a fortune at the tracks this summer. "I thought I knew horses backwards," he laments, "and that's just the way they ran for me."

GEORGE S. KAUFMAN, who still is afraid of planes is recruiting new members for his "Darwin-Was-Right Club." . . . Gummo Marx, fifth of the Marx Bros., confided to Harpo that he would like to rejoin the family act. "Nothing doing," Harpo told him. "When you were with us before, you became known as America's Slowest Whirlwind Dancer."

WHEN THE MAYFAIR IS RELIGHTED and opens again to customers three weeks hence, the room will have been completely transformed in an "Island of Martinique" decor . . . Jac Leasman, who designed the International Casino for Alex Finn, begins work today on the Mayfair's reconstruction . . . The "Martinique" notion was suggested by a new dance (which is expected to catch on) . . . Ramon and Rosita are the originators, and this widely-known ballroom team will be featured, probably, in the Mayfair's opening show . . . Miss Manya, the beautiful half of the dance team of Manya and Drigo, was featured in the Mayfair's show the week the cabaret suspended activities for redecoration . . . We mention her because readers of the column are grateful, no doubt, for her thoughtfulness . . . If you remember, it was Miss Manya's generosity which permitted your reporter to "tip" her horse, Al-Ling, a week ago in this space . . . Al-Ling won the very next start (yesterday) and paid $6.20.

GUY LOMBARDO won the popularity poll by Roit Roof patrons, and Artie Shaw was a close second . . . More than 1500 ballots were cast . . . The poll proved of little value to the management in helping it choose attractions, however . . . Rudy Vallee, who would be a preferential booking and a sure box-office bet, was far down in the list of ten bands submitted for balloting . . . And Ben Bernie, who enjoyed a very profitable visit at the Roof, was neglected in the voting . . . Lombardo is far ahead, however, of his rivals of the season to date in luring business to the Arlington street bostelry . . . And inquiries by prospective patrons indicate that the Shaw management, starting August 18, will be a stampede . . .

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Glad tidings for Cambridge residents may result from conferences between President James Conant of Harvard and Mayor John W. Lyons of the University City . . . The news will concern hospitalization and recreational activities . . . For the first time in the memory of veteran press-agents, all major Boston movie-houses are holding over pictures simultaneously this week . . . The "Hardy family" is at Loew's State and Orpheum, "Bachelor Mother" at Keith's Memorial, and "Each Dawn I Die" at the Metropolitan will be on display for another week each . . .

OPPONENTS of capital punishment will point to the Waltham shooting as proof that the recent double execution certainly was pretty weak as a deterrent to attempted murder . . . The party tossed by former Governor Hurley last night was an invitation affair . . . First plans were to hold the welcoming home affair at the Somerset . . . But the former Governor invited a hundred or so friends to his Hull summer home, and then entertained them at Pemberton Inn . . . Billy Murray, the Harvard quarterback of war days, was Ed Wyner's guest at the Ritz . . . Paulyna O'Brien, the Music Corp press-agent, is in town . . . "The American Way" will go a-touring in September, and Boston will see it at the Opera House . . . (Although there isn't so much zest for flag-waving in theatrical circles as there was a few months ago) . . . Duke Ellington has written four new songs in collaboration with a youngster he considers a great lyric-writer, and whose name is Billy Strayhorn—(a wandering minstrel?) "I'm Checkin' 'em" Goodbye," and "Lovely Co-Ed" are two of them.

FILM LEAD OFFERED ANGNA ENTERS

By Louella O. Parsons

Angna Enters

HOLLYWOOD, Aug 4 Theodore Dreiser took one look at the test Harry Edington made of Angna Enters, one of the world's foremost pantomime dancers, and said "there is your 'Sister Carrie.'" Being the author of this much discussed novel, Dreiser will naturally be consulted by Edington when he is ready to film the story and up to now it looks as if Miss Enters is leading the procession.

The Hays office officially passed "Sister Carrie" with only a few requested changes. Should Miss Enters sign a contract, it will be her first motion picture. She is so well known both here and abroad that her appearance should be an asset

LISTEN, WORLD! You Must Give to Live By Elsie Robinson

YOU, the DISCOURAGED disgusted! You, the [illegible] Life is falling out on you, so that you feel [illegible] Then this column is addressed to you!

You're not GETTING enough out of life because you're not GIVING enough to it.

You've always had the idea that life owed you something. But it was up to you to [illegible] the breaks. But you're wrong. Life owes you neither happiness nor opportunity. It owes you only what you are the one who owes. You owe it to [illegible] all you have or are. Every comfort or convenience you enjoy, every law which serves you, every possession which enriches you was created by the effort of millions of men long dead.

WHATEVER YOU DO, WHEREVER YOU GO, YOUR DEBT CONFRONTS YOU. YOU ARE THE "HEIR OF THE AGES"—BUT THAT HERITAGE CARRIES A MORTGAGE THE SWEAT AND BLOOD AND TEARS OF ALL WHO HAVE GONE BEFORE. AND YOU CAN NEVER KNOW A RICH OR SELF-RESPECTING LIFE UNTIL YOU BEGIN TO REPAY THAT LIEN.

YOU MUST GIVE TO LIVE. That is the first law of life. Each thing that exists—whether it be man, least or nameless weed, is born bound by obligation. It does not exist by its own effort but by the efforts of all those in the past who have fought its fight and paved [illegible] and left the mark upon it. By BETTY ALDEN

FOR ONCE DEBS and their older sisters were on time for dinner last evening . . . They knew that the dinner dance for the Annapolis midshipmen at the Eastern Yacht Club was no continuous performance and if they didn't get there for the first show there was no use going at all.

The cause of this unusual punctuality was the 11 p. m. curfew aboard the U. S. S. Texas on which the boys are cruising . . . The girls invited to dine with them arrived at the club on the dot of seven to bask in the admiration of a middy stag line for four enjoyable hours.

Though few of the girls had any previous acquaintance with the midshipmen it didn't take them long to find dancing partners . . . The committee worked out a seating plan so that the middies outnumbered the girls two to one at each table.

Anna Hobbs who arrived with her sister Melora asked if she could use her ticket, which was emblazoned with the Eastern insignia, for, she said: "This is the first navy dance I've ever been invited to" . . Her lavender chiffon gown had a brief bolero of violet linen and tiny lavender bows were tucked in her curls . . . Her sister's period salon had a cape edged with peach ostrich feathers.

Mrs Robert C. Terry and her brother, King Upton, members of the committee for the party were Johnny-on-the-spot seeing that every girl had a good time . . . Mrs. Terry's blonde hair was done in a sleek new coiffure and she wore a turquoise gown with a corsage of sweetheart roses and gardenias . . .

Colored lights were strung from trees over the lawn, where couples strolled between dances and a big, round moon rose over the harbor as the bars mingled goodnights to their partners with invitations to join them for tea on the Texas this afternoon . . . Most deb parties run way into the night; so some of the girls didn't know what to do with themselves when the dance was over.

Among the many girls were Lilian Fernald, who wore an amethyst satin gown; Rosemary and Gene Merrill, who attended with Faith Kidder; Hattie O'Day in a filmy white organza frock, with a brilliant clip in her hair; Ursula Burkhard in dusty pink and lavender striped linen; Phyllis Magrane, Janet Pierce, Mary O'Day, Nancy Tucker, Gini Stringley and Deborah Sprague . . .

You Can Be Beautiful

Sparkling Citrus Skin Toner

By ARLINE GOULD

IF IT'S a crystalline clarity you want for your face, you'll discover that there is one sure way of having it . . . learn how to use a certain spectacular citrus-laden liquid. It's a skin-toner of unusually great merit, and is as necessary for purification of the complexion as your tried and true cleansing mediums, whether they're soap and water or cream. And it firms as well.

Every other week in the year you would pay, and gladly, the sum of $3.30 for a bottle of this unique grapefruit skin toner. Next week and only then, you may have the same bottle for $1.10.

This sun-shot liquid is chock full of the rich citrus oils of grapefruit, and in spite of its firming action is anything but drying or harsh. In fact, it was formulated with the fragile skin very much in mind.

You'll notice particularly how it helps the skin to eliminate the obtrusive waste which clogs pores around the nose and chin and eventually turns into blackheads.

Squeeze a pledget of cotton in cold water and soak up some of this exhilarating toner, then apply it, after thoroughly cleansing the skin with cream, in upward strokes. You'll feel refreshed just to smell it, and your skin will feel its fragrant coolness gratefully.

What it actually accomplishes is the removal of all the insidious clogging oils—those your own skin releases in hot weather, perspiration acids, dust and the inevitable left-over oils of the cream you use. Strangely enough, the acid quality of the skin toner counteracts the oily condition of a skin which has clogged pores or blackheads.

To learn all about this unusual [illegible] for sale on a wonderful grapefruit skin toner, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 6000, weekdays until 5:30, or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Salmon Aids Hostess

By MARTHA LEE

Summer hospitality is graciously wholehearted, but informal.

Entertaining guests for luncheon, tea, dinner or for the midnight snack need not occasion any anxiety to the modern hostess, for ready-to-serve foods suggesting a wide variety of appealing services for all types of menus line every grocer's shelves.

Transferred to the pantry, these quick-serving foods hold the key to success for the summer hostess (one of the most popular of such staples—and one that lends itself to use in an almost innumerable number of dishes, is canned salmon.

This highly nutritious deep-sea fish, with its generous stores of high grade protein, calcium, phosphorus, iodine and vitamins A, D and G, represents one of the best grocery buys for the menu-planner. Sealed in the can within a few hours of the time it is caught in the North Pacific waters, canned salmon is ready for use in a salad, sandwiches, appetizers and all types of baked loaves or casserole dishes.

SALMON AND PICKLE LOAF

1 can (1 lb.) salmon
¼ cup bread crumbs
1 cup milk
½ cup coarsely chopped sweet gherkins
2 eggs
1¼ tsp. salt
1½ tbsp. melted butter
1 tsp. minced onion
1½ cups medium white sauce
7 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
6 stuffed olives, sliced

Flake salmon, add crumbs, milk, gherkins, eggs, salt and melted butter; mix well. Pack into greased loaf pan, set in a shallow pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 30 min., or until loaf becomes firm. Turn out on hot platter, add onion to white sauce and pour over loaf. Arrange egg slices on top with olive slice on top of each. Serve hot. Makes 6 portions.

SALMON CROQUETTES

2 tbsp. butter
5 tbsp. flour
1 cup flaked salmon, canned
½ cup milk
2 eggs
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1-3 cup fine cracker crumbs

Melt butter, add flour and blend. Stir in milk gradually and cook 5 minutes, or until thick and smooth. Add salmon, 1 egg, well beaten, and bread crumbs; mix thoroughly and chill. Form into croquette shapes; dip in 1 egg, slightly beaten, and roll in crumbs. Fry in deep fat (365 deg. to 380 deg. F.) [illegible] minutes or until brown. Makes 6 portions.

Smart Set Fashions

Knit Cozy Accessories

IT WON'T be long now before nippy weather sets in and if you start knitting very busily you can have several pairs of comfortable soft woolen socks ready, or a smart muffler, or even mittens. If you've ever noticed how proud the masculine contingent is apt to be of socks hand-knitted by some industrious member of the family, you'd be quick to provide them in all the colors of Joseph's coat.

This muffler, by the way, is knitted round and round, with a circular needle, turning out double. It drapes very well. As for the mittens, where is the [illegible] who couldn't use several extra pairs to go under waterproof shells? Or to have around ready to slip on when it's time to shovel out the drive! When requesting knitting directions, which you may have simply by writing to Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, and inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please indicate which pattern or patterns you desire.

Match or Contrast Napkins

DEAR MRS. BEECHMAN:

JACQUELINE.

If I were you, I wouldn't use paper napkins with such a charming type of tablecloth. Instead I plan to get a kind of napkin that would not detract from the [illegible] cloth.

So often, I know, these unique cloths do not have napkins to match, and it is indeed a problem to know what to get. The solution I like best is to buy napkins of plain colored linen that as nearly as possible matches the background shade of the cloth.

You can get closely woven white or [illegible] linen in the [illegible] or peasant linen, and these can be bought already hemstitched, or it is simple for you to do it.

Love and Marriage

She Craves Companionship

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX,

I'm 18 years old, tall, rather stout, and also sort of clumsy. I don't seem to be at all popular with the younger set, and when I go to a party or a dance, everyone seems to be having a good time except me. I haven't had much education either.

I've started going around with a man who is several years older than I, and besides that he's a heavy drinker. I go with him just because I want to go places, and I crave companionship. If I had other friends, I know I wouldn't go with him at all. Is there such a thing as a man's stopping drinking, for the sake of a girl he loves?

WALLY

Although the poets talk of "love ly eighteen," sometimes nature is less kindly at that age. We haven't quite got used to our grown-up bodies—we're too thin, or fat, or we can't quite manage our newly acquired long legs.

But don't despair. [illegible] two we do get [illegible] these things, any many ugly ducklings emerge as lovely swans. Next year you won't feel tall, stout or clumsy, particularly if you go in for the proper exercises.

But, my dear child, you are too young to be going about with a man who drinks to excess. Better break that off at once. It's a pretty doubtful business to reform a drunkard to reform him. If you haven't the where-withal to continue your education, why not take up a course in Vocational Training or Adult Education? Your superintendent of schools can tell you all

Easier to Digest

What effect on milk has the process of homogenizing? Does it make it better than ordinary milk?

MRS. F. J. W.

Homogenizing is accomplished by forcing milk through small apertures or in other ways breaking it up so that the fat globules and solids are very finely divided. It accomplishes the same thing that you do much less efficiently when you take a bottle of milk in which the cream has risen to the top and shake it to [illegible] that cream throughout the milk.

THE Runaway

by KATHLEEN NORRIS

Becky said, "But, Doctor Dinsmore, why should you do this for me?"

"JUMP IN," the interne said after a glance at the fawny-headed woman with the gold eyes burned deep into a white fa

Becky went along, saw Gibbs carried away from her in a [illegible] interested white-clad folk of both sexes, sat in a brightly lighted, drug-scented receiving room talking to a home woman on whose desk a metal triangle announced, "Margaret Cole, R. N., On Duty."

Margaret Cole took Becky's Father [illegible] reported, using her alien name, Spencer Gibson [illegible] Was [illegible] You find out if he's—pretty sick? If they think . . ."

"He may be, Dinsmore," Miss Cole telephoned. "She's [illegible] heard her say. [illegible] not come down. But a nurse did, told Becky to tele[illegible] in about an hour and she would have a full report.

ARRIVED LATE

[illegible] to eight, Becky [illegible] at Rheingolder's [illegible] was a shift that [illegible] at 7 and came [illegible] at 8 by walking fast she could get there and slip in with [illegible] if she were found out [illegible] found out, that was [illegible] discharged.

Or, since Christmas was close, she might be only fined; girls at Rheingolder's were fined for absence [illegible] its an hour or for any fraction of an hour, although they were paid only three times that for the nine hour day.

SAYS MANY PRAYERS

LAYS BABY VISIT

[illegible]

At half-past ten aching in every limb Becky went down-stairs again and telephoned the hospital, she waited, waited. The report came. The little curson boy was asleep, he seemed more comfortable. He hadn't cried at all; he'd been just a little angel.

"Oh, God bless them, he's warm and safe, and at least they're watching him!" Becky said, tears running down her face as she walked barehanded under the cold stars on her way home. It was a long way through dirty streets with snow piled high against the curb.

FOUND GOD

"God bless them!" That was a prayer, too. Her heart was strangely light and comforted.

When she got to the tenement she went into Mrs Devvins' rooms and reported. Mae was loud, ugly, scornful, proud that Gibbs had been taken to the hospital. She [illegible] let her [illegible] Becky answered [illegible] a baby, come to think of it. No, he's all right. But now, Mrs. Gibson, where do you live?"

Dr. Stephen Dinmore, hearing [illegible] was dark, fat [illegible] was hot [illegible] Where do I live? I [illegible] apartment in 11th.

"Go to work in the subway every day?"

"No. I work at Rheingolder's. It's not so very far from here. I've been able to come to the hospital every night at dinner-time. Before that a neighbor took care of Gibbs while I was away."

"I don't think," the doctor said, "that little Gibbs ought to go back to that neighborhood. Not now. He ought to have a month or six weeks in an even, warm climate, and very careful building up. Any epidemic now, measles or whooping cough . . ."

"Oh, God help me!" Becky said in her soul. Aloud she added, "Could I take him to California?"

"Could you get to California?"

OFFERS HOME

"My people are there. But [illegible] began [illegible] brothers all in arms! I thought . . . I knew so many people had [illegible] Well, I felt sure [illegible] mas there until after Christmas. My sister is there, widowed, with two girls grown girls; she's visiting me. I think she'd be very glad to have you. After Christmas we went on. "He would like to see you for a moment. He took charge of your small boy when he was brought in. He'd like to see you in his office. Fourth floor. I'll show you the way."

Becky followed, praying as she went. It couldn't be that anything was wrong with Gibbs. Not tuberculosis or anemia . . . She was so white when at last she faced the famous physician that he made her sit down, and himself brought her a paper cup of water.

HIS PLAN

"You're all right?" he asked anxiously. Becky sat facing him, trying to smile. "I'm all right," she said shakily. "But Gibbs, my little boy . . .? She said he was really out of the woods. She said [illegible] perhaps he could come [illegible] next Sunday.

"He is. He's only an [illegible] chest cold. Well [illegible] baby, come to think of it. No, he's all right. But now, Mrs. Gibson, where do you live?"

Dr. Stephen Dinmore, hearing [illegible] was dark, fat [illegible] was hot [illegible] Where do I live? I [illegible] apartment in 11th.

"Go to work in the subway every day?"

BREAKS INTO TEARS

[illegible]

It was as if the dark December skies above the grim old city had broken into the blue of June.

"What do you say?" Stephen Dinsmore asked.

"Why, but Dr. Dinsmore, what can I say? Except that I didn't know that people could be so wonderful—so marvelous. I was [illegible] was sort of at the end of my hope. Becky faltered, and it doesn't seem true."

And suddenly abandoning an attempt to hold back her tears, an attempt to turn them into a laugh, she put her head down on the desk and burst into wild sobbing, sobbing so uncontrolled, so exhausting and abandoned that the man presently rang for a nurse, and Becky had to be patted with something powerful, as I who do [illegible] sobbed to water.

She saw Dr. Dinsmore [illegible] before she went home. He was quiet and business-like and unemotional.

[illegible] could be moved on Friday; that was the earliest. If it was well he'd be at the hospital with his car and here in Friday [illegible] time [illegible] with Gibbs straight to [illegible] Arbor [illegible]

Future of Gold Seen Vital Issue

...question in State Street was "what is the future of gold" . . . Yet today the fact that the metal is certain to play in world economics is largely forgotten. Only a few long range thinkers are concerned with its present status and outlook.

THE IMPORTANCE . . . Of gold today and its connection with world trade is stressed by Robert L. Raymond Jr., partner in the Boston and New York investment house of H. C. Wainwright & Co. In a written memorandum on the subject he indicates he holds that if a world war is avoided by rearrangement which provides for a revival of international trade, then gold will play an important part.

His conclusions based on such a possibility are coupled with a warning. That general devaluation of European currencies would not probably take place as soon as the threat of war was removed.

PEPSI-COLA . . . A special meeting of stockholders of the company was presided over by President Walter S. Mack, Jr., on Tuesday at which he outlined briefly the present conditions of the company . . . He stated the stockholders probably knew, from articles appearing in newspapers recently, that the company has just gone through the most profitable six months in its history . . . Showing estimated profits, after estimated reserves for depreciation and taxes, including income taxes, of approximately $2,500,000 for the first six months of this year . . . Which is about 25 per cent above the figure for the corresponding months of last year.

MANY OUTLETS . . . Mr. Mack stated there were about 400 franchise bottlers covering the United States, about 100 franchise bottlers in Canada, and about 60 franchise bottlers in other parts of the world . . . He further stated that in a few places in the United States, Pepsi-Cola was outselling in bottles any of its competitors in the can field . . . Plans are now being formulated to improve sales through sales promotion and organization and that some field men have already been sent out to aid and stimulate the franchise bottlers throughout the country.

DURING . . . the meeting the following directors were elected . . . Arthur F. Vanderbilt, former president American Bar Association . . . Harold S. Tenney, executive vice-president, Manufacturers Trust Company of New York . . . Walter S. Mack, Jr., president, Phoenix Securities Corporation . . . Herman Shulman, member of firm, Hays, Podell & Shulman . . . Frank P. Burns, vice-president, Loft, Incorporated.

FORMULA . . . "Business today is what business men make it. The rewards are waiting for the companies that plan carefully, sell aggressively and advertise consistently" . . .

These are the words of Edgar B. Jessup, dynamic president of Marchant Calculating Machine Company of Oakland, Cal., in Boston for a meeting with Marchant District Representative O. G. Peterson and his staff . . . Jessup, who is making a tour of Marchant offices in both the United States and Canada, is nationally famed as an executive who practices what he preaches . . . The company which he heads is now enjoying the greatest sales volume in its quarter century and more of history.

Selling Flurry Tumbles Stock Prices

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—The stock market lasted at slightly lower levels in the early part of today's proceedings but a selling flurry after mid-day hit the list for losses of fractions to 2 points.

Until profit taking became more insistent, the volume was about one half that of Thursday.

Brokers thought that the scuttling of the administration's lending spending bills by Congress may have caused some traders to shelve commitments on the theory certain lines of industry might be temporarily affected. On the other hand, most in Wall Street maintained the opinion that for the long pull the conservative shift at Washington was bullish.

Corporation earnings and hopeful company prospects continued as a favorable market influence and analysts recalled that the trading pace in the past several weeks generally has been speediest on the upside. Foreign affairs were watched with the idea the present calm might be a prelude to a later storm.

Auto Makers Rush Work on '40 Models

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (AP)—Ward's automotive reports today placed the output of automobile factories for the current week at 29,250 units. Last week's assemblies totaled 43,585 and those for this week a year ago 14,771.

Ford was the only major manufacturing in normal output this week, Ward's said that producers were rushing to get into 1940 model output wherever possible to "take advantage of what appears at this time to be an expanding car market."

Each bidder shall deposit security in the amount of not less than five per cent (5%) of his bid (aggregate total of all groups bid). A bond in lieu of the full amount of the contract will be required of each successful bidder to secure the faithful performance of the contract and for the payment of all persons performing labor or furnishing materials in connection therewith. The information for bidders, form of proposal, form of contract, plans, specifications and forms of bid bond and performance bond may be examined at the above address and copies may be obtained from the Chief Engineer of the Commission, upon deposit of $15 to be refunded only to bidders or to others returning them within ten days after the opening of bids. The Commission reserves the right to waive any informality in or to reject any or all proposals. No bidder may withdraw his bid within thirty days after the actual date of the opening thereof. A proposal which includes for any item a bid that is abnormally low or high may be rejected as unbalanced.

E. NELSON MOLT, Secretary.

Arnold Seen as Prosperity Killer

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

Thurman W. Arnold, assistant attorney general of the United States and author of "The Folklore of Capitalism," seems to be hankering for the role of prosperity killer No. 1.

Under the guise of anti-trust law enforcement and with a great fanfare of publicity, Mr. Arnold seems disposed to go after industry and make business men conform to his fantastic concept of "sound" pricing.

If the spirit of confidence, enterprise and initiative is needed to stimulate recovery and re-employment, the current designed campaign of demoralization is becoming a significant deflationary force.

And the former Yale professor's plan of using the threat of criminal prosecution under the anti-trust laws to induce alleged economic criminals to accept civil "consent decrees" which embody Mr. Arnold's concept of economic planning and proper pricing of goods seems strange indeed.

If men have clearly violated criminal statutes, there should be no purchasable exemption from jail through making commitments to do or abstain from doing certain things in the future through consent decrees or otherwise.

On the other hand, if this new legal device of using the threat of criminal prosecution to induce business men to let the attorney general's office fix price policy, then logically it could be applied to other fields.

Perhaps another prosecutor will find a technique for letting murderers go scot-free provided they agree to pay double taxation for five years. Possibly another will let wife beaters out on parole if they promise to vote exclusively for New Dealers.

MONEY TO LOAN

NOW! A NEW LOAN PLAN

Pick your own monthly repayment

You can borrow from $20 to $300 without asking others to sign with you. Decide on the amount of cash you need, then choose the payment which suits your budget. You may repay in 2 to 20 months, as your income permits. Investigate our tailor-planning system of repayment schedules. Other amounts and other plans are available. Note how we, not you, apply your income to keep the cost to a minimum. Note, too, what small payments can be made if you wish.

| Cash You Get | Amount you pay back each month (including all charges) for following periods | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 2 mos | 4 mos | 6 mos | 8 mos. | 10 mos | 12 mos | 16 mos | 20 mos |
| $ 50 | $26.04 | $13.... | $ 9.68 | $ 7.6... | $ 6.1... | $ 4.... | | |
| 100 | 51.85 | 26.... | 18.1... | 14.6... | 11.43 | 9.... | $ 7.66 | $ 6.41 |
| 150 | 77.82 | 39.... | 27.1... | 21.9... | 17.16 | 14.2... | 11.49 | 9.62 |
| 200 | 103.76 | 52.1... | 36.1... | 29.... | 22.85 | 19.00 | 15.2... | 12.81 |
| 300 | 155.... | 78.... | 54.0... | 43.84 | 34.28 | 28.5... | 22.98 | 19.24 |

This table is for guidance only. Payments may be made in advance of the day they are due, if you wish. Add your expenses before you go shopping—carfare, gas, etc. Remember, the cost of your loan is not 6% or 8%, but is calculated at from one-half to one-third of 1% a month on the unpaid balance. Many borrow $25

AUSTEN LAKE

Word From Patricia: Dizzy's Alter Ego

I DON'T EXPECT YOU TO SAY "OO" or "Land sakes" about this. But this pillar of persiflage has received a penny postcard in the spencerian script of Mrs. J. H. Dean, the lucid half of the Dizzy Deans and a personable female on the buxom side who treats her pixilated spouse like a fond mama. So she says, "Jerome and I enjoyed reading your article after your pleasant visit with us here." Just that and nothing more!

AUSTEN LAKE

Here is baseball's leading lady and the raison d'etre (Gawsh!) for her helpmeet's climb to fame. She signs the checks, dictates the family correspondence, and controls Dizzy like a shrewd parent indulging a deficient child, saying "poor Jerome (she never calls him Dizzy) is such an artless, generous, big-hearted boy!"

On the top of her grand piano there is a two foot poster photo of Dizzy, smirking from a silver frame, the sort of thing you usually associate with the lobbies of moving picture palaces. Through the dining room portieres a full-length enlargement of Dizzy hangs on the wall, a view of the great man in uniform. There may be half a dozen more around the apartment.

Make no mistake, the business brains of the Dean household is pretty, plump Patricia, a lady who learned about male psychology as a hosiery saleswoman in Dallas.

Pat Salvaged Diz

DIZZY IS JUST A TREMULOUS ECHO of Mrs. Dean's robust confidence. For here is the same wifely cupidity and maternal ambition by which Mrs. Clair Ruth turned Babe from a strictly denim guy, who wore flannel undershirts and yellow knobs on his shoes, to a sartorial model and incited him to yell for the federal bank balance.

For despite his occasional screeches in the newspapers, Dizzy is not the egomaniac the papers paint him—but just a hickory yokel whose boisterous tongue throwing springs from the same sense of insufficiency as prompts a country boy to whoop when passing through a cemetery after dark.

Perhaps such tactics might ruin a better balanced household. But Dizzy revels in it, implying the same docile worship in his eyes and attitude as a sheep dog blessing a benevolent mistress. Indeed, if he were a tail at the end of his spine, Dizzy would wag that fuzzy plume half by fanning messages of devotion to his "Mrs."

It is truly touching.

The Lollypop Kid

WHEN DIZZY JOINED THE ST. LOUIS Cardinals as a bachelor in 1932, he was a rustic hayshaker with a fund of raw pitching power and a goofy nature which made him a quick favorite with the word painters of the press. But he was also a cantankerous cuss who gnawed his nails and potted his depressions, so that his first boss old Gabby Street, once told me he never presumed to criticize him or speak a cross word lest Dizzy swoon in a seven day pout.

"The lollypop kid" Gabby called him, because of his sweet tooth for praise.

Trouble began when Frankie Frisch, a brusque and brittle type replaced Street and began blistering Dizzy's sensitive soul with acid remarks. For Frisch regarded psychology as something equally effeminate as wearing silk pajamas and he poured his doses for one and all from the same bitter bottle—a good mouthful of homeopathic profanity. It curled Diz's sensitive cuticle.

So Dizzy was fast growing spiritless and wan and not even his defensive blusterings could plug the steady leak of his confidence as it trickled through his pores. He was 185 pounds of poor when Heaven sent him a suitable wife—a perky, sharp-eyed girl with a motherly manner mixed with a go get 'em style of sales talk. It must have been an interesting courtship!

Loud "We" Instead of Soft "I"

THE CURE WAS INSTANT! Overnight the girth of Dizzy's chest swelled four inches. His round shouldered slump changed to a swagger. He pulled his chin out of his collar and jutted it agressively. And like Mary's lamb, everywhere that Dizzy went his wife was sure to go. Not hen pecked mind you! But simply that he thrived on her syrup. "You great big wonderful hunk of masculinity."

So the Dizzy menage became a loud "We" instead of a faltering "Me."

Diz's earned run average became "our" earned run average in domestic conversations and the utterly chatter referred to his strike out average as a mutual possession, which, considering the happy relationship they were. Patricia resurrected Dizzy from dereliction and, according to marriage laws ruled all the salvage rights.

Thus upon marrying a manager who is both woeful and sensational, Dizzy annually became one of baseball's most tenacious hold outs until an ache crept into his elbow—an affliction which the magnates have come to call the "matrimonial convulsions." For, if they could do it lawfully, the magnates would outlaw double blessedness as a pernicious nuisance which transforms tractable bachelors into acquisitious husbands and causes them heavy pains in the region of the payroll. Twixt wives and magnates, there is a deep-rooted comedy. As Max Baer once remarked, "Nuthin' gives a guy Maxie like marriage" and I suggest if John L. Lewis, the labor leader wishes to weave the baseball magnates into unionized submission, let him just organize the wives. They'd lix 'em.

DOERR HITS .425, DAZZLES LEAGUE

By JOE CASHMAN

Bobby Doerr continues to listen and say nothing while experts and fans engage in heated arguments as to whether he or Yankee Joe Gordon is the greatest second baseman.

As the same time the Sox radiant infant continues to put on a show out on that diamond which makes Gordon boosters more red-faced daily.

BOBBY DOERR
Stuns Gordon Fans

Seventeen Red Sox games have come and gone since Doerr, in the tough lead-off slot, has failed to hit safely.

[illegible] opened up the Hose [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] Jack Rigney of the White Sox in Chicago on July 19. Bashing Bob has been baseball's hottest hitter [illegible] day to date.

[illegible] the 17 games since he [illegible] [illegible] has an average of [illegible] [illegible] to the [illegible] mark of .425.

He was batting .290 on the [illegible] of the 29. On this off day he [illegible] [illegible] .425, which [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] among the Fenway regulars.

He did in those 34 safeties were five home runs, equalling his [illegible] round tripper total and boosting his number of circuit clouts in this campaign to eleven.

BRILLIANT ON DEFENSE

A defensive wizard with few equals and no superiors among big league keystone sackers, this 21-year-old California sphinx, hitting at his present gait, stands out as the sensation of the season.

Maybe the Yanks wouldn't trade Gordon, with his .295 stick mark for Doerr, but the Sox won't give Doerr for Gordon and a couple of other Yanks thrown in for good measure.

Doerr's phenomenal hitting of late isn't so surprising if you're acquainted with the young man's past history.

At the tender age of 17, Bobby was sticking .317 for San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

The next season, his last out there, he hoisted his average to .342. He finished up that campaign with the almost unbelievable total of 238 hits, the greatest number made by any player in any pro league in the country that year.

Handicapped by being severely beaned during the first week of his freshman season with the Sox in 1937 and playing only on and off after he recovered, he had to be satisfied with a .224 average, leading a lot of conclusion-jumpers to get the idea that he was one of those great-field, no-hit guys.

HIT .289 LAST YEAR

He spent the early part of last season, his first as a regular, getting his bearings and then hit well over .300 during the last half to cross the wire with a .289 mark.

In other words, when he's hitting .325, he isn't sticking over his head.

Gordon, incidentally, has never been that kind of hitter.

The New Yorker, then 21, was hitting but an even .300 with Oakland in the Coast League the same year that the 18 year-old Doerr was batting .342 for San Diego. At Newark in '37, Joe finished with a .280 mark. He dropped to .255 with the Yanks last season.

The Cleveland Indians, now in New York, will have plenty to tell the Men of Manhattan about the Sox second-sacker.

Bobby propelled two homers over the wall to beat Bob Feller on Tuesday. In the final game of the series yesterday, he came through with four safeties to pace his mates in a 19-hit attack which spelled a 17 to 6 victory and a 3-1 edge in the engagement.

WEIRD CONTEST

It was a game that grew daffier as it progressed with the Six finally putting over nine unearned runs in the eighth for their biggest stanza of the year.

The Indians were charged with six errors. They couldn't have complained if they had been found guilty of a dozen miscues. They dropped line drives, misjudged fly balls, uncorked wild heaves and booted easy grounders.

Johnny Allen, working five innings, left the premises trailing 7 to 5. With perfect support, he wouldn't have allowed a run.

Jake Wade, despite being found for 10 hits in 5 1-3 innings, managed to get credit for the victory, his first of the year.

Now come the Detroit Tigers, to bring the third Western invasion of the Fens to a close in a three-game series.

This engagement was originally slated to open today, but the Sox management received so many requests from fans for a Sunday doubleheader that the scheduled Fish Day fray was shifted to manufacture a Sabbath twin-bill.

The Bengals are especially popular in these parts right now. They come here from New York, where they knocked off the Yankees twice to enable our heroes to climb to within 7½ games of the roof.

Stripers Prove A-1 Magicians: Their Vanishing Act a Knockout

By DARK MONTREAL

Dear Dark Montreal:

Not all of those white marlin are being slaughtered off Ocean City as you can see by this swell picture taken by one of our boys.

Sweet Home

IT WAS OLD HOME WEEK for this fine white marlin, caught by two REAL sportsmen off Ocean City. The anglers, Sid Sussman and J Hammond Brown, tagged the marlin, then freed i

Here's a 40-pounder, all tagged, being returned to its element.

I met Depree, the Plymouth bait man, over coffee in Jim's Lunch Wednesday morning.

"Any stripers around?" I asked. He laughed.

"Art Lovell came in yesterday and said he didn't know whether to go after stripers or after small mouth bass. Finally he decided to try the stripers.

"He took a dozen sea worms and went down to the mouth of the Eel river and he was back in a couple of hours with 11 nice stripers. That's 11 on 12 worms.

"So I rushed down there and what did I get? That's right. Nothing."

STOUGHTON CLAMBAKE

Stoughton Fish and Game Club—530 members—will hold its 10th annual clambake and field day at C. W. Welch Memorial Fish and Game Preserve on Sunday, Sept. 10. It shapes up like a whale of a party.

Sharon Fish and Game Club will put on its first field day, August 20, on the club grounds on East street, and the new clubhouse will be officially opened.

Two of the South Shores most ardent sportsmen are preparing for the small game season early this year. Bill Southworth of Hingham, though still loyal to his fine setter, has a pack of seven beagles in training on Stan Luce's place in Norwell. "You ought to hear that pack trailing a rabbit through the horsebriar," Bill said. "'Twould do your heart good."

TUNA TEAM NAMED

G. Don Raymond, chairman of the committee on selections for the British Empire tuna team which is scheduled to compete in the third International tuna matches at Wedgeport, N. S., in early September, announced today the names of four regulars who will face picked teams of crack fishermen representing Cuba, the United States and Belgium.

They are Louis Mowbray, Bermuda captain of the last British Empire tuna team, a 1937 team; James Pearman, Bermuda member of last year's Empire team; Tom Wheeler, Toronto, Canada, two-time international, and Lorne Baker, Yarmouth, N. S., likewise a member of the British tuna teams for two years in a row.

Essentially this is the same group of big game anglers which defeated a team of crack American sportsmen in the first international at Wedgeport.

The British team is planning a new piece of strategy similar to their "Flying Wedge" fishing formation which gathered in the Sharp Trophy in 1937.

All anglers and hunters speak of "the good old days" and sometimes we are prone to wonder whether the "good old days" were any better or any more productive than the present.

There's plenty of proof, however, that they were and the latest has been dug out by Henry Lewis of the Massachusetts Fish and Game Association. In a sporting volume entitled Sport with Gun and Rod copyrighted in 1883 by the Century Company he found a record of a total weight of 5862 pounds of striped bass taken on rod and reel by W. R. Renwick in the year 1876. The largest fish was 51 pounds.

If all these fish were killed and other anglers even approached Mr. Renwick's record, it is no wonder that the gamey striper all but vanished from our waters.

Out of the Creel

Dark Montreal:

We follow your leads on fishing and though we haven't had much luck, we have seen some good fish caught. The other day we saw an 11 pound striper taken in Buttermilk Bay.

What we'd like to ask is where is North Rock you speak of for tautog and would it be possible to give in the paper a little direction as to where these places are? We are about 50 miles inland from the canal and not acquainted with all the places on the coast.

JOHN MILLER.
South Street, Wrentham.

To Mr. Miller and others who may have been confused, Dark Montreal confesses a fault in not more explicitly locating certain fishing grounds.

North Rock is a very short distance off the shore of Manomet Point and can be reached by turning off Route 3 onto the Point road, next road south of White House road.

Drive about a mile to the end of this road at the coast guard station. Al Tripp's boat station is at the base of the cliff and he'll point out all the fishing rocks to you.

GRAHAM STAR OF ORIOLE SURGE

(By the Associated Press.)

The Baltimore Orioles have climbed out of the cellar to sixth place in the International League standing since July 14 and now are pressing the Newark Bears for the top spot in the second division.

A good deal of credit for the flock's sudden upward flight should be given to Arthur W. (Skinny) Graham of Somerville, Mass., once with the Red Sox.

Art was obtained from Little Rock of the Southern Association while he batted 243. Until July 11 he wasn't any great shakes with the willow, hitting only .252, but for the past three weeks he has been on a batting spree and has boosted his average to .308.

When Baltimore left the cellar for greener pastures, Graham had batted in 22 runs. His total now is 58, and he has connected for seven homers during his splurge.

Last night Art gave a typical slugging performance to help the flock break even in a twin bill with Toronto. Baltimore won the opener, 8-3, and lost the second game, 6-5.

Graham hit safely four times in seven trips to the plate and knocked in six runs. He collected two homers in the first game, one of which was good for four runs.

Trick Knee Speeds Defeat Of Babe Ruth

NORTH CONWAY, N. H., Aug. 4 (INS)—A "trick" knee today had knocked Babe Ruth, erstwhile home run king of major league baseball, out of the second annual Eastern Slopes Golf Tournament just as victory seemed his.

Ruth bowed to Fred McIntire, New York, 4 and 3, in the final round of the tournament. The bad knee slipped five times on the former "Sultan of Swat" on the first 12 holes.

Ruth was four down at the 12th, but even then showed a threat of coming on to win. He missed an eight-foot putt on the 14th to end the match.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

MAX (LEFTY) WEISMAN is a well set-up man with powerful arms and broad shoulders. He was stretching Johnny Allen's legs as the latter reclined on a rubbing table in the dressing room of the Cleveland ball club at Fenway Park.

Lefty Weisman

"I stretch the legs of Allen and Hudlin before they pitch," said Weisman in reply to my look of wonderment. "This helps them to make their pitching stride without a strain.

"Bob Feller passes up this treatment. He is so young his legs are usually always loose. I usually loosen up the muscles of Bob's arms and shoulders before a game.

"The day Feller pitched his one-hit game against the Red Sox his muscles were so loose that I didn't rub them."

Weisman has been around ball players as a rubber and boy for more than 20 years. It is 18 years since Tris Speaker took Weisman to Cleveland with him.

"We have had five or six new ball clubs in that time," said Lefty.

I asked Lefty if there had been any change in the type of [illegible].

"The youngsters of today live more routine lives than some of the old timers employed Weisman. "This may be due to the college influence in baseball. The boys save their money, go to the movies for recreation and are usually in bed by 11 o'clock.

"There was more wild drinking in the old days than is true today. This was particularly true during prohibition when there were some gay parties. It was then considered the smart thing to have a bottle of liquor on [illegible] until it was consumed."

Trainer Says Beer Aids Ball Players

I ASKED LEFTY if he was opposed to ball players drinking.

"Positively no," he responded. "As a matter of fact I think there should be a rule requiring every ball player to have one or two bottles of beer following each game. The pitchers should have two bottles of beer.

"Johnny Allen has frequently lost as much as six to eight pounds during a game. One must do something to get back that weight quickly or he isn't going to remain in the big leagues for long. This is why I advocate beer for players following a game.

"If some of the older players like a cocktail before their dinner, that is all right with me. It tones them up.

"The quickest way to get old and to lose interest in life is to go home early at night and hit the hay an hour or so after dinner. I did this for six nights in a row a year ago and found myself talking to myself.

"I like to step out at night with friends, take in a beano game or a show, and then have a few beers. I know that by doing so I work better the next day.

"Ball players and other athletes who fail to relax have a sudden physical let-down and are washed up overnight.

I lived in the West End of Boston when Sam Langford was at his fistic peak. The 'Tar Baby' always forgot boxing as he enjoyed the company of his friends following a ring battle. Sam knew how to relax which is why he lasted as a ring headliner for so many years.

Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey also [illegible] beer following a training session, it helped to restore their lost vitality, and gave them back some of the weight they lost.

"Ball players must fight against losing weight during the summer months, and beer will help them more than anything else."

Indian Pitchers Would Give Sox Pennant

IT WAS TIME for Chuck Alle[illegible] to go on the field.

"Put their ears back," as Lefty Allen departed.

"I'll try to," [illegible]

"The Red Sox would [illegible] pennant if they had a pair of pitchers as good as we have," said Weisman. "Jim Bagby was a great power ball club. It had consistent pitching, and Jesse Haines is one of the few Cardinals who can be relied on to [illegible] the ball game. [illegible] ball."

Every ball club seems to have its weak spots. We could stand more infield strength.

Tris Is Selling Steel, and Is Making a Success of His New Job," answered Lefty. "Tris will always be my idea of the greatest outfielder that ever chased a fly ball. Others have been better hitters than Tris, but nobody ever equalled him as a fielder. Persons who have seen Speaker, Cobb, Joe DiMaggio and the other great outfielders agree with me."

I [illegible] that while in Boston I visited with friends in Chelsea [illegible] was born.

Jack Malaney Easy On Erring Indians | Red Sox Visitors Play Weird Game

By BILL GRIMES

But for the leniency of Jack Malaney, the official scorer, the Cleveland Indians would have broken the all time record for errors for the American League yesterday.

Genial Jack charged the Indians with six miscues . . . He must have been feeling very chipper . . . Otherwise, Cleveland would have had at least a dozen slips pinned on them . . . That fellow Grimes was none too impressive but he was better than Webb . . . The Grimeses always had the edge on the Webbs.

If he was as temperamental as the fans have been led to believe he is, Johnny Allen would have walked out of the box in the first inning yesterday . . . The Red Sox didn't get anything that even looked like a nit off the Indian hurler in that frame but they scored four runs.

The high sky made Ben Chapman, Bruce Campbell, Jeff Heath and our own Ted Williams look like "bushers" . . . The present day outfielders need plenty of "angels" to guide them to fly balls . . . It's a miracle that some of them haven't been pole-axed . . . Ben Chapman acted as though he was under the impression that he was still on Tom Yawkey's pay roll . . . Although the Red Sox won by the comfortable margin of 11 runs, four double plays pulled them out of some ticklish situations . . . So, I've yet to see the Red Sox lose a game this season . . .

Johnny Allen

HERE'S A SOLUTION

It required 25 minutes for the Sox and Indians to play the first inning yesterday . . . Jack Slattery, who, in his day, was one of the best hitters in baseball, passed up the cool breezes of Nantasket to watch yesterday's travesty.

One of these fine days some manager will solve his pitching problem of removing a catcher instead of a hurler . . . It's a tough assignment for any pitcher to work with any "fast-ball-curve-ball" receiver.

After measuring up to the best standard of the United States Marine Corps, Red Ormsby, the American League umpire, has given up on himself . . . It looks as is he is through as an "ump."

Ned Fitzgibbons, Whitman, who will captain the 1940 Milton Academy baseball team, is the batting practice catcher for the Berlin, N. H., club of the Twin State League . . . Artie Johns, the former Harvard star, is managing Berlin, and he took Ned to the North Country for experience . . . Ned's father was on the Harvard baseball squad for three years as a pitcher.

WOODS IN TWIN STATE

Joe, Jr., and Steve Wood, sons of the former Red Sox fire ball hurler, who coaches the Yale baseball squads are playing for Lancaster, in the Twin State League . . . They were in the Northern League but organization was a trifle too fast for them . . .

Bobby, the youngest brother is playing first base for Littleton in the same league . . . Leo Coutier bussed down from Berlin, N. H. with 40 boys to watch the Red Sox . . . Before the game, the Granite State delegation presented Manager Joe Cronin with a picture of the "Old Man of the Mountains" in appreciation of the trip that the Red Sox manager made to their fair city last winter . . .

Tom Yawkey

Recently some scribe came up with an old thought that Tom Yawkey should have bought into the National instead of the American League . . . Now, wouldn't that have been something . . . With Bill Yawkey his uncle a former owner of the Detroit Tigers . . . And, incidentally, when Bill Yawkey tired of owning and operating the Tigers, he GAVE the club to the late Frank Navin . . .

Here's another one about Bill Yawkey . . . While he was president of the Tigers, Bill decided that he'd take a trip up around Timmons, Ont. . . . He thought that there might be some copper mines available . . . So, to prepare for any emergency, Bill sent one of his ball players to his (Yawkey's) bank to get a report on his "cash on hand" . . . When the teller handed the player a slip stating that Yawkey's balance was $3,000,000 in cash the player collapsed . . .

BLADES NOT SMART

Just before the Indians took the field yesterday "Skeeter" Webb was informed by Manager Oscar Vitt that he was going to be sent back to the minors—Buffalo . . . A couple of years ago, Webb refused a very flattering offer from the Bees . . . At the time, he was a free agent . . . He promised Casey Stengel that he would confer with him before he signed with any club. He failed to live up to his promise . . . Now, he's headed for the "bush" . . . Under Ol' Casey, Webb could have developed into a major leaguer . . .

Ray Blades may know what he's doing in regards to Joe Medwick, but he's costing the Cardinals a pretty penny by admitting that Ducky is slipping defensively.

Joe Daly, formerly of Dorchester, now of New York, who is one of the most royal of all Red Sox rooters, is back home on a vacation.

BOROS ON TOP

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 4 (AP)—Al Boros, 196, of Bridgeport went ten rounds to an easy decision over his Fairfield County rival, Eldridge Eatman, 184, of Norfolk.

BLADES, MEDWICK MAKE UP

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4 (AP)—Joe Medwick's home run the first time at bat against the Boston Bees, after the fans had cheered his appearance at the plate, was a resounding answer to reports the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder was disgruntled and was not doing his best.

Before the game Medwick definitely put his foot down on rumors that he was dissatisfied. The reports were inspired by Medwick's display of temper in Tuesday's game when Manager Ray Blades sent Lynn King to replace him in the outfield in the ninth inning.

The principals in Peffaire Medwick had this to say after they had publicly shaken hands:

BLADES—"The removal of Medwick was just a tactical change for a moment which I thought might be beneficial on the defense. I think Medwick is a great player and have never thought anything else. He'll be in there every day."

MEDWICK—"I have done my very best and if I have missed a few more flies than ordinarily it was not because of lack of heart. I have no sore arm or sore leg excuses and I'm giving everything I have and will continue to do so. Blades is trying to manage the club as he sees it, I know."

PRESIDENT SAM BREADON of the Cards, backing Blades in his managerial tactics, called the affair a "tempest in a teapot" and said it was "a closed incident."

Follies Show On Tomorrow

All roads lead to Revere Beach tomorrow night. The center of attraction is the Water Follies of 1939 which opens an 18 day stay at the newly constructed outdoor arena.

The original cast of the Follies, which recently closed a successful stay at the Civic Stadium in Buffalo, will be seen throughout the 18 day session. There will be three performances daily, an afternoon show at 3:30 and evenings at 8 and 10 p. m.

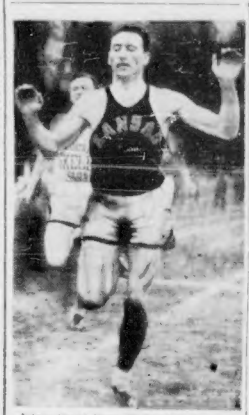
The show is headlined by three of the outstanding divers in the country, in Byron Smith of Kansas City, Charlie Diehl of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. and Jerry Kenny of Australia.

Another highlight of the show is the water ballet of eight beautiful mermaids who perform some intricate stunts in the water to the rhythm of music. These alluring girls have trained for many months and are perfect in their work.

The crowd will roar with laughter when Clayton Mains displays his funny antics in the water and off the high springboard. He is sure to make a big hit with the lovers of water sports.

Cunningham, 30, Goes on Rest Diet; Olympics in Mind

PEABODY, KAS., Aug. 4 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, whose hobby is clipping seconds off mile records, dedicated his thirtieth birthday today to "eating, sleeping and fishing." He hopes the lethargy will add a few pounds—the first step in a campaign for a 1940 Olympic championship.



International News Photograph Service
GLENN CUNNINGHAM
Olympics-Minded

Glenn came here with his wife and daughter in mid-July 14 pounds underweight following a strenuous season in the celery and olive banquet league and a track campaign speckled with losses.

FROM 168 to 154

As Dr. Cunningham of the University of Kansas Extension Department, he motored over the state's bleak highways all winter and spring lecturing on "How to Keep Fit." He developed a pair of muscle-tight travel legs.

Those same travel legs turned traitor during the running season, and trackman Cunningham's methodical dieting to get back in shape cut his weight from the customary 168 pounds to 154.

He will return to Lawrence Sept. 10 to resume his lecturing and start light workouts. About Jan. 1 he hopes to be in shape for top-flight competition.

His conditioning for the Olympic games will be carried on with especial zest. In 1932, while still a University of Kansas student, he hurried to fourth place in the 1500 meters behind the record-breaking Luigi Beccali of Italy.

SCORE TO SETTLE

Four years later he suffered a disturbing defeat when he chased Jack Lovelock, the New Zealand Gazelle, across the finish line in 3:47.8 for the metric mile.

It was a full second better than the world record and almost three seconds better than Beccali's winning time.

Cunningham was well under the old figures but behind the New Zealander. He hasn't forgotten.

Pick Dick Gill To Win 440

Dick Gill, ex-Boston College star is favored to win the 440-yard run, one of the feature events of the 86th annual Scotch picnic and games at the Caledonian Grove, tomorrow afternoon. Mercury will be pitted against such opponents as Douglas Raymond, former B. U. star; Frank Masianica, East Boston, and Robert Folsom, B. A. A.

Gill, Masianica, and Bob Folson were three of the members of the Unicorn relay team that recently went to the nationals at Lincoln, Neb., and finished second. Gill, however, has been the most consistent and has generally been returned a winner on the Caledonian course.

The other entries include Arthur Linthwaite, Bob Stewart, Samuel Casey and Dick Hayes all from Newton. "Y." Ray Elwood, Notre Dame A. C., Tommy Callahan, B. A. A., Billy Zeigler, unattached, George Miller, unattached and Gene Driscoll, Beverly.

MAYER QUITS COAST; PEEVED AT WEIGHTS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4 (AP)—Louis B. Mayer, motion picture magnate who has spent $300,000 in the past year acquiring a racing stable, announced today he was withdrawing from competition in California and prepared to leave for Saratoga track in New York.

A representative said Mayer was dissatisfied with the weights assigned his horses and other actions of tracks in this state.

The spokesman did not explain what the other actions were and declined to amplify the statement.

Mayer's breeding activities will be transferred to the Kentucky bluegrass, on the Claiborne farm of Col. Arthur B. Hancock, near Paris.

His horses will be raced in New York, Maryland, Florida and other eastern states.

The film producer was a heavy purchaser at auctions this year and last, spending some $100,000 on young horses. His acquisitions included a number of promising two-year-olds.

Out standing stakes campaigner in the stable is main man, which won the $10,000 New Year's handicap at Santa Anita Park this year and finished third in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Two other high-ranked performers, Perifox and Magic Hour, are out of training at present. Mayer also owns Osaabaw, an outstanding jumper which competed with indifferent success in flat races here last winter.

14-Yr.-Old Miss Beats Dorothy Leonard

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., Aug. 4 (AP)—Patricia McWhorter, 14-year-old New Brunswick, N. J., swimmer for the Newark Women's A. C., scored a double upset when she outawam Dorothy Leonard, of Worcester, the national 220-yard indoor champion, in two events at the second annual Bretton Woods Invitation Water Carnival.

The Jersey girl set a new pool record for the Mount Washington Hotel tanks 1 minute, 30 4-10 seconds in the 100-meter free style, and 2 minutes, 38 4-10 seconds in the 220-yard free style. Miss Leonard trailed the victor by 5 yards in the latter event.

CANZONERI WINS

BROOKLYN, Aug. 4 (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion, outpointed Joe Dejesus of Puerto Rico in eight rounds. Canzoneri weighed 141; Dejesus 137.

RIGGS' WIN PUTS HIM IN FINAL

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 4 (INS)—Bobby Riggs, the Wimbledon champion, loafed into the final round of the Southampton invitation tennis tourney today with a five-set win over Robert Kamrath of Austin, Tex., nationally 14th ranking amateur, in such a poor exhibition that observers viewing the match with an eye on America's Davis Cup future were disappointed.

Frank Parker, Beverly Hills, Cal., and Don McNeill, Oklahoma City, gained the final double bracket by defeating Frank Guernsey, Orlando, Fla., and Russell Bobbitt, Atlanta, 6—2, 5—7, 7—9, 6—4, 6—2.

The scores were 4—6, 3—6, 6—2, 6—4, 6—2.

Kamrath's performance was poor, but Riggs' slipshod display was so bad that he dropped the first two sets.

Riggs outscored the blond Texan by only 15 points and saw his service broken eight times.

Riggs actually seemed disinterested in the outcome until finally toward the close he put on enough pressure to assure himself a victory.

In the first set Kamrath ran off a 3-0 lead, then fell into a streak of errors and Riggs squared it 6t 3-all, but, with errors predominating and Riggs' service broken for the third time in the seventh game, Kamrath went on to his 6-4 victory.

The second set followed the same pattern, ending finally in favor of Kamrath, 6-3.

Riggs began to bear down in the third set and quickly ran up a 3-0 lead, whereupon he began hitting out of bounds and Kamrath moved up to 3-2, then tired and blew the set without winning another game, and taking only two points.

Riggs took 10 straight points in the fourth set in running up a 4-2 lead, as Kamrath began to wilt, and the Wimbledon champion finally ended the tedious contest in the fifth set after playing to three match points.

Bees Invade Cubs' Lair

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—The Boston Bees were the guests of the Cubs today and fast traveling Chicago delegation promised a warm welcome to the invaders. Gabby Hartnett, boy is he hitting it on high, being ten games behind the league leading Reds and count on the Bees to better their position in the standing.

Manager Harinett is shooting Claude Passeau against Boston today, while Stenge will start Lou Fette. Of the two pitchers Fette has the best record with 10 wins against four losses. Passeau has won but three games while losing eight.

In yesterday's conflict the Bees dropped both games of a double header to the Cards 5 to 1 and 4 to 3. The Cards picked up a game on the idle Cincinnati Reds who now lead the National League by 9½ games.

Lon Warneke stopped the Bees with eight hits in the first game. Slaughter and Medwick knocking homers in the St. Louis cause. Posedel was the loser for Boston.

New Grid Team For Boston

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Backed by some of the most prominent figures in the sports world, a new professional football league has been formed and will launch a full schedule of games in six big eastern cities this fall, the Washington Times-Herald learned from an authoritative source.

Underwriters include Powell Crosley, of Cincinnati, owner of the Redlegs, Cal Hubbard, well-known American League umpire, who played 10 years in the National professional football league; "Tack" Hardwick former Harvard football ace, and Bill Hollenback, famous U. of Penn star who was chosen All-America fullback by the late Walter Camp.

Games will be played in Oriole Park, Baltimore; Yankee Stadium, New York; Redland Field, Home of the Reds, Cincinnati; Shibe Park, Philadelphia; Fenway Park, Boston.

HANDY GUY—Jockey Johnny Longden, a handy guy booting the horses home in front, relaxes after the races at Saratoga by playing billiards with Mrs. Longden. Since the first of the year Johnny has had 643 mounts, with 148 winners, 109 place horses and 73 show nags. It's a great year for Johnny.

DiMaggio's Bat Rings Merry Tune

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (INS)—Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, today was giving thanks for the presence in the champions' outfield of Jolting Joe DiMaggio. And with good reason.

Not only did Joe raise his average back to an even .400 with three hits out of five against the Detroit Tigers yesterday, but he unloaded two homers and a single to drive in five runs and pace his awakening mates to a 12 to 3 triumph, snapping a three-game losing streak.

Inspired by the San Francisco smacker's example, the Yankee artillery, which has been strangely quiet of late, awoke and blasted 16 safeties off three pitchers, beginning with Buck Newsom, who was tagged with the defeat.

Bill Dickey and Red Rolfe also smashed homers, Bill's being his 17th of the season.

MEDWICK HOMERS

Although Monte Pearson was reached for 11 hits by the Tigers, he found it easy to register his ninth victory of the year.

The Boston Red Sox, 7½ games behind in the American League race, ran over the Cleveland Indians, 17 to 6, with 19 hits. Boston sent 13 men to bat and scored nine runs in the eighth, Manager Joe Cronin getting two doubles in that inning.

Over in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals dropped the Boston Bees twice, 5 to 1 and 4 to 3, pulling up to within 9½ games of the pacemaking Cincinnati Reds whose game with the New York Giants was rained out.

Enos Slaughter rapped two homers, and storm-center Ducky Medwick rapped out one in the St. Louis cause.

CUB ROOKIES STAR

Two rookies Outfielder Bill Nicholson with two triples and a single, and Shortstep Bobby Mattick, with a double and a single—starred for the Chicago Cubs as they turned back the Philadelphia Phillies, 9 to 6.

The Brooklyn Dodgers got 13 hits behind Tot Pressnell's eight-hit pitching to lick the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 1, and tie the idle Giants for fifth place.

In the American League, the Washington Senators beat the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 5, as Outfielder George Case got a single, double, triple and a walk in five trips to the plate and stole three bases to lift his total to 37.

Clint Brown, ace White Sox reliefer, made his 41st mound appearance as Chicago downed the Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 7.

FAST FIELD STARTS BATTLE FOR JAQUES GOLF TROPHY

By BILL GRIMES

One of the largest and fastest fields that ever competed in a Herbert Jaques Memorial Cup Trophy tournament is playing in the 18-hole qualifying round of that annual classic today at The Country Club.

About 50 four ball teams are battling for 16 berths. Judging from the calibre of the pre-tournament entry list, the 76s will be off the premises late this afternoon.

The Herbert Jaques Memorial Cup Trophy was put up for competition in 1919. In those days, and until 1925, the Jaques Invitation was a medal and match play event. Francis Ouimet was the first Jaques Cup winner and he successfully defended the title the following year. Then, Billy McPhail, another former caddy at The Country Club had his name enscrolled on the now famous trophy.

There was no Jaques Cup Invitation in '22 but the ensuing year Frank C. Newton, who three years later became the first New England amateur champion, topped the field, only to pass the title along to A. C. Ulmer, the Florida state amateur titlist, in 1924.

CHANGED PLANS IN '25

In 1925, the tournament committee at The Country Club decided to make the Jaques Cup Invitation a four ball event. Art Corwin and Edmund Childs came through with flying colors. In 1926 the Jaques Cup was back at The Country Club for Herbert Jaques, Jr., and "Bunny" Estabrook succeeded Corwin and Childs and in turn handed over the title to their clubmates Frank C. Newton and Rodney W. Brown.

From 1927 through 1931, the Jaques Cup did not reside at The Country Club. Joe Batchelder and Mel Merrill took the trophy from Newton and Brown in 1928, passed it along to Chet Rich and Fran Hersey, who, in turn, handed it over to Clark Hodder and Emory P. Stratton and then a couple of rank outsiders from Connecticut, Frank Ross and Charlie Clare came out on top.

In 1932 Walter A. Carl and Franklin T. Pfaelzer brought the Jaques Cup back to The Country Club for the fourth and last time. Jesse P. Guilford teamed up with Ray Van Arsdale, the following year and breezed through. Freddie Wright and Billy McPhail won in 1934, after which Emory P. Stratton, with the able assistance of Judge Joseph W. Monahan captured the trophy in 1935.

FRANCIS OUIMET

BROTHERS WIN 3 YEARS

For the past three years brother teams have topped the Jaques Cup fields. In 1936 Milan and Mel Heath, Jr., were the winners and then came the Martin twins, Leo and Edward, who a year ago became the first four-ball combination ever to successfully defend a Jaques Cup title.

Among the four-ball combinations playing in the qualifying round of the 20th Herbert Jaques Memorial Cup Invitation today are Francis Ouimet, the 1919 and 1920 winner, who is teaming up with Prescott Bush, the 1935 president of the United States Golf Association, now a member of the U. S. G. A. rules of golf and international relations committees.

Bobby Knowles, The Country Club, and Ted Bishop, Woodland; Milton B. Reach, Jr., and Phil Simmons, Longmeadow; the Herseys, Fran and Win; Harry Snelling and E. E. Connor, Mel Merritt and Howard Paul, Jimmy Baldwin and Bill Faversham, Rich Wagner and Joe Fay, Don Ritchie and Tom Logan, Jr., Gordan Marshall and M. L. Fearey of Garden City, N. Y., Francis Brookes and Junius Richard, Rockaway Hunting, N. Y.; Fred Hannon and Joey Hoffman, South Shore; Rodney W. W. Brown and Dr. Guy S. Hayes; Franklin T. Pfaelzer and Howard M. Biscoe; Herbert Jaques and Harold W. Pierce; the Galvin boys, "Bud" and Frannie; Ed Dagnino and Phil Hendrick; Win Trowbridge and Warren Day; Jack McCarthy and Eddie Murphy; Ray Gorton and Rutherford Ainslie; Lewis Grimball and Gerry Reed; T. Dennie Boardman and F. A. Reece, Jr.; Clarence Cochrane and John Chew; John Buttrick and J. V. R. Bright and Allan V. Ellis and F. G. Crocker.

The Martin twins will be post entries, and many other strong four-ball combinations are expected to enter the battle for the 16-match play berths.

Nippon's Prisoners—Soviet airmen brought down by Jap planes are shown here in field hospital recovering from injuries, a Japanese nurse and orderly (rear) in attendance. These are among first of Mongolia conflict pictures to reach America.

Alien Food—These Russian pilots, brought to earth by Japanese planes, seem well satisfied with the Nipponese diet they receive in prisoners' camp. Note shaved heads of captured airmen. They dig into simple fare with relish.

Useless Tank Is this one captured by the Japanese in Outer Mongolia warfare with the Russians. The lumbering machines were disabled by gasoline-filled bottles thrown against their hot sides. Frequently a tank's occupants were cremated by the resultant blaze.
